Troops Fire On Looters in Berkeley

SAFES ARE ATTACKED BY PAIR

Thieves Driven From Ruins of Two Homes In Great Fire Zone

LIST OF MISSINK GROWING SMALLER

Reports Now Indicate All Fires In State Are Under Control

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—Two looters were fired upon by guards at the ruins of the Berkeley, California, fire early today.

The men were seen attempting to open safes in the ashes of the homes of Ralph P. Merritt, head of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers association, and Fred Foss, county treasurer of Alameda county.

As the guards started firing the men fled and made good their escape.

Investigation showed the men had been unable to open the safes.

Continued checks and re-checks of the records of missing have reduced the number of persons unaccounted for to eight all of them University of California students. It was believed they would be found soon and definite announcement that no lives were lost could be made.

The ruins during the night were soaked with water by firemen in order to cool them off sufficiently to permit more searching examination by householders and by representatives of the coroner's office.

Reports from various parts of Marin county today showed the fires which menaced three towns there were under control and soon would be out unless adverse winds should again arise.

The Berkeley city council passed an ordinance at a special meeting today making rent profiteering a misdemeanor. The ordinance provided a fine of $500 and six months imprisonment as the maximum punishment for any landlord increasing rents. Pledges were made by building material and supply dealers that they would not increase prices as a result of the heavy demand which re-construction will create.

Fires in Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties and in the Placerville region were reported rapidly dying out.

Meanwhile, Berkeley, where was wrought $10,000,000 of the $15,000,000 damage the fires have done, was rapidly organizing for re-construction.

In the burned district, householders who had lost their property were busy searching the ruins for what they might yet salvage.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president emeritus of the University of California, spent most of yesterday at the spot where his home had stood, searching the ashes for bits of his valuable collection of rocks and for parts of his library which might have escaped. He was said to have recovered but little.

Other college professors were engaged in the same sort of work, some looking for remains of libraries, others for objects of art and some trying to find where botanical collections—gathered through the work of years—might have been burned.

Throughout today the work of clearing away wreckage continued with power squads dynamiting chimneys which stand like great

Police Seize 300 Men In Beer War,

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. — Approximately 300 men were plucked from beer saloons, cafes, street corners and alleys in Chicago's underworld during the night and morning in Mayor Dever's campaign to rid the city of beer runners, following the "beer war" killings.

Practically every policeman and detective on the night shift participated in the hunt, one of the most extensive in years.

Chief of Police Morgan Collins, in personal charge of the round-up, ordered his 27 police captains to continue the roundup until every suspicious character is in jail or driven from the city.

ONE DEAD, 10 HURT IN GAS TANK BLAST

Explosion in Government Airplane Testing Plant Results in Heavy Loss.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—At least one man was killed and ten others were injured when a gasoline tank exploded in the airplane testing laboratory at the Bureau of Standards here this afternoon.

Nine of the injured were rushed to hospitals where doctors said four or five of them were in a critical condition and might be fatally injured.

Firemen removed the body of L. L. Lowry a few minutes after the explosion which set the building afire.

Bureau officials are making a check to learn whether any others were caught in the building.

The explosion occurred during testing of an airplane motor.

POLICE CALL 4 FOR PROBE IN L. A. MURDER

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Four persons, whose identity is being kept secret, were summoned by police today for questioning in connection with the death of Mrs. Ethel Williams, 25, beautiful cabaret singer, who was found murdered in her flat last night. Her body had been horribly mutilated with a pair of scissors.

A letter from the mother of Mrs. Williams, Mrs. L. R. Chamberlain of Buffalo, N. Y., found among the dead girls' effects, indicated that Mrs. Williams was fearful of living in Los Angeles, and wished to go home.

Several people have informed the police that Mrs. Williams told them recently that "she had a thousand enemies and not a single friend."

Mrs. Williams' former husband, James Cass, with whom she lived several years in Imperial valley, was being sought today following reports that the pair had had a great deal of trouble before their separation.

The girl was the mother of five children, four of whom are at present in a San Diego orphanage, where her husband placed them following his divorce from her. He claimed four of the children were his, but that the youngest child, 2, Bobby, whom she was caring for here, was not his. The girl was preparing to go to San Diego in hope of seeing the children at the time of her death.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Lolita Reynolds, 26 years old, was shot and killed here by her sweetheart Jean Boyer, who subsequently committed suicide as the outcome of a lover's quarrel.

C. OF C. WITHDRAWS PARK OFFER

COOLIDGE TO ASK AID OF ALL BLOCS

President Seeking to Iron Out Differences Before Congress Opens

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—President Coolidge will invite all blocs, groups and factions in the Republican majority in congress to join with him in framing the administration's executive program to be submitted in December.

He intends to eradicate bloc and factional lines by making the leaders of the blocs share with him in the responsibility for so-called administration measures.

Senator La Follette, head of the progressive organization in House and Senate, is to be invited to the White House for a conference on legislation soon after La Follette returns from Europe. Similarly, Mr. Coolidge will establish contact with Frazier, Dill, Magnus Johnson and the other incoming progressives, and with Brookhart, the aggressive Iowan.

Mr. Coolidge will not risk the loss of party or personal prestige that might follow a division of forces along bloc lines.

He is determined that the controlling element in congress, the new progressive group, shall, if possible, be brought into cordial relations with the White House and that on any moot questions the progressives will throw their weight with the administration rather than with the progressive democrats against the administration.

Mr. Coolidge prefers to have the bloc leaders tell him what they demand in a legislative program before he drafts the program instead of having them demand it on the floor of the house and senate it the form of bitter attacks on the administration. He has a good foundation of personal friendship and and esteem to work on here. As vice president, he earned the respect and friendship of practically everybody in the senate. He is sure of a respectful personal hearing from even the most rabid opponents of the "regular" wing of the Republican party.

FAIR BOARD OFFICE OPENS AT GROUNDS

Flaherty today announced that the office of the management at the fair grounds is ready to receive applications from exhibitors and concessionaries for gas, water, power and special lighting arrangements. Requests for this service must be made in writing, the requirements being outlined in the request.

President James A. Smiley of the fair board will be at the office on the grounds late today and tomorrow to receive such requests, or they can be made of L. A. Collver, superintendent of grounds.

The telephone numbers at the fair grounds are 2400 or 2401. Smiley and Flaherty can be reached at these number or at 549.

Jesse Sweetser, deefndang the title, was the second player to qualify for the semi-finals, beating Jesse Guilford, Boston, 2 to 1.

A moment later Max Marston, Philadelphia, won from Joe Wells, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Boston's second hope for a chance at the title came through when Francis Ouimet beat George Von Elm, Salt Lake City, two and one.

Claims Heavy Crude Oil New Source of Gasoline

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—A new method by which gasoline may be produced from any crude oil, whether heavy or light, was described to petroleum geologists in session here today at the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Laird J. Stabler, dean of the College of Pharmacy at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Stabler told of a new refining process for "cracking up" heavy asphalt oil, produced in large quantities in the older fields of this state, and now used principally for fuel oil, and turning 40 per cent of it into a synthetic compound closely resembling gasoline.

Like most synthetic processes, Dr. Stabler's process is somewhat more expensive than the ordinary production costs of regular gasoline, and so will not affect the gasoline situation at present.

The fuel of the future will be a combination of kerosene and alcohol, Stabler thinks. Kerosene, a cheap by-product of gasoline, lacks the explosive quality necessary to run an engine and Stabler looks forward to a mixture of alcohol to give it the necessary combustibility.

GERMAN PROPOSAL ON RUHR PROBLEM FACES REJECTION

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—Rejection of the secret German proposals for cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr, made through the Belgian minister, Count De La Fille, was indicated in an interview with the minister, granted today.

"Belgium and France insist upon complete abolition of passive resistance before entering into any negotiations with Germany," the minister said.

"They are not willing to accept any proposition for return of German citizens expelled from the occupied zone, or to pardon all of the Germans who have been arrested, especially since some of them have been chargd with murders."

"Stressemann must cancel passive resistance openly and frankly," the minister asserted, "otherwise France and Belgium do not intend to enter any negotiations for a Ruhr settlement."

Detailed terms of the cabinet's decision to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr were eagerly awaited here today.

It was considered likely the reichstag will be summoned to convene towards the end of next week. When it does convene verbal fireworks over the Ruhr, currency and other topics are expected.

Chancellor Stressemann was known to feel that if the proposals made through the Belgian ambassador are received favorably the government will be able to control the internal situation, despite the vehement protests already made by the reactionary and monarchist elements.

The Chancellor favors a sudden and dramatic announcement of capitulation, it was indicated. He feels that if Germany allows herself to drag along slowly to defeat, the unrest will be even greater and more dangerous than the sudden shock of surrender.

NEW YORK STORES SUFFER BIG LOSS IN PRESS STRIKE

BY STEVE HANNAGAN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Advertising is news.

A dearth of women shoppers at the height of the bargain season is laid to the fact that New York is without newspapers.

Department store heads and shoppers interviewed by the United Press today confirmed the fact that shopping is decreasing each day the city goes without its morning and evening papers.

A visit to the larger department stores found them deserted, in comparison to their usual rush.

"The slump in shopping is caused by our inability to advertise in the newspapers," asserted the executive of one of the largest department stores. "The first day of the strike business was not so bad—the impetus of the previous day's advertising carried us over. Yesterday it was worse. Today it is awful. Tomorrow and each succeeding day we cannot advertise it will be even more noticeable."

There has been no general advertising in the "synthetic" editions published in Gotham under the rule of the striking pressmen.

Clerks in the stores are ready and anxious to serve customers—to break the monotony of idleness.

"We're like a lot of ornaments," said one sales lady who had nothing to do but chew gum. "Usually we have to have a guard around us to keep anxious and impatient customers from mobbing us for service—but not so now. Don't tell me this newspaper strike will last long. We work on commission and it's the newspapers that bring the people to the stores."

"Advertisements appealing to women are just as necessary as the heart and home topics, the society column, what women shall wear and general news," proclaimed one well dressed lady wandering around a large department store in an attempt to discover what it was she wanted to purchase.

One large store has broken an ancient rule and filled its great show windows with signs inviting the passersby within. At the door the customer is met with special "sale cards" and page newspaper ads—prepared by the newspaper but printed in job shops.

"This is the ad we would have published today were it possible," a legend at the top of the sheet reads.

Other stores are advertising heavily in suburban papers.

Another with a Philadelphia branch has its ads inserted in the New York editions of Philadelphia papers.

BOOST BODY TO RETAIN PROPERTY

Market Price of Land to Be Asked In Future If City Seeks Site

The offer of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to sell at cost the Bristol property to the city as a park site was withdrawn today.

The board of directors of the Chamber voted not to consider the tri-committee proposition of the city council, which the booster board maintained merely would delay matters without bringing a decision in relation to the grounds offered to the city.

The Chamber holds thirty acres approximately in the southwest section of the city, which, it was said, was purchased at $1,000 an acre. The Chamber declared the grounds were purchased as a possible fair grounds or municipal park site while land prices were reasonable.

Though withdrawing its offer to sell the property to the city at original cost price and fees, the Chamber voted to retain the property indefinitely for prospective city use.

"The price, however," the directors said, "will be the market price of the land."

Installation of a radio outfit will be made at the auto camp grounds on North Main street by the Chamber, it was voted by the directors.

To Be Installed at Hall.

The receiving set will be installed in the assembly hall where visitors to the camp may sit in the evening to hear the various concerts coming in over the air.

An acre of ground also will be added to the auto camp if negotiations of the Chamber with property owners in the neighborhood are successful, it was reported.

It was planned to add an acre on the eastern end of the camp site to square off the grounds, giving a total acreage of about 9 1-4 acres.

Fifteen cent reductions were made in Corning, Cabell, Somerset medium and Somerset light. Ragland was unchanged.

Nebraska Man Launches Johnson Boom

LINCOLN, Nebr., Sept. 10.—A Johnson for president campaign was launched here today.

John G. Maher, personal friend of United States Senator Hiram Johnson of California, and a leader in Nebraska politics, told the United Press that he believed Johnson would make a formal announcement of his candidacy in the near future.

Maher said the movement here is to place on the official ballot in the primaries in Nebraska the name of the California senator for president.

The plan, he said, is to have the organizatoin become effective in all the central states and already plans are being perfected to secure the delegation in the South Dakota primary, which is the first one to be held, the date being March 22, 1924.

ITALY WINS IN ATTACK ON LEAGUE

Tribunal Decides to Let International Court Settle Question of Competency.

GENEVA, Sept. 20.—Final agreement on a method for settling Italy's challenge to the competency of the League of Nations to intervene in the Italo-Greek dispute was reached today when the League council voted to submit the matter to a commission of international jurists under three heads:

1—The competency of the League.

2—Responsibility of states for crimes committed in their territory.

3—The right of a state to occupy the territory of another for such crimes.

The council's decision to submit to the court the questions of its competency, the responsibility of states for political crimes and the right of occupation, is held a complete victory for Italy and a defeat for the League.

SEEKS TO OUST PRESIDENT OF LABOR BODY

(By United Press Leased Wire)

STOCKTON, Sept. 20.—With at least two battles in sight, today's session of the state federation of labor promised to be a lively one.

With Eugene Schmitz of San Francisco leading his fight, Al Noriga, of the San Francisco Moving Picture Operators is making a spirited campaign against Seth Brown a sthe next president of the federation. With musicians, theater men and several other locals pledged to support him, Noriga claims his chances of election are good.

Santa Barbara has entered the race in opposition to Pasadena as the next convention city. This was an unexpected development as the next meeting had been practically promised to the latter city for withdrawing her claims a year ago.

Many leaders were predicting the formation of a political labor party at the conference on Friday and great interest is being shown by the delegates. This conference is not a part of the regular convention.

Two resolutions asking formation of a labor party and amending the federation laws to allow this party to be under control of labor organizations will be voted on today.

HURL DEFY IN STATE BATTLE

Legislators to Hold Session Despite Jail Threat of Governor

EXECUTIVE ORDERS FLAMING CROSS DOWN

Charge Mobilization of National Guard By Walton Unlawful Act

(By United Press Leased Wire)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—"The mask must remain off in Oklahoma," sponsors for a special session of the legislature called to meet September 26 to begin impeachment proceedings against Governor J. C. Walton, declared today.

Six members of the house of representatives, who led in the agitation for a special session to remove the governor for his state-wide martial law declaration and alleged abuses of his office, went on record favoring abolition of the mask and urged unreserved efforts to curb violence in the state.

The statement of the legislators said:

"We favor an investigation, through proper civil channels, of charges of dereliction of duty by various county officers in law enforcement and we favor enactment at the earliest possible moment of a law prohibiting the wearing of a mask or of masked assemblages, and rigid prohibition, with severe penalties, for floggings or mob violence in any form."

Those signing the statement were Frank Boyer, G. S. Long, W. G. McBee, R. A. Singlesary, W. J. Otjan and W. I. Cunningham.

When the house of representatives meets, it is expected to act in the capacity of a grand jury, investigating charges against the governor. The findings will be turned over to the senate, which will have power to impeach or vindicate.

Charges against Governor J. C. Walton, included in the call for a special impeachment session of the Oklahoma legislature, set for noon next Wednesday, include:

1—Refusal to allow laws of the state to be executed and enforced, including the law providing for capital punishment, "thus encouraging the assembling in this state of the worst type of gunmen, criminals and murderers, tending to encourage the commission of crime."

2—Abuse of the pardon and parole power.

3—Incitement of minority rule and dictation of government over the majority in the state.

4—Excited class antagonism and domestic insurrection, endeavoring to array within the state class against class and religion against religion for political gain and personal desires.

5—In public utterances he openly directed certain classes of people to kill others with a promise of pardon.

6—That the governor unlawfully mobilized the national guard in the state without sufficient reason and brought shame and debt upon the people of Oklahoma unnecessarily.

7—In disregard of well regulated American ideals "has arbitrarily set aside the writ of habeas corpus and has sought to perpetuate high-handed methods of injustice and despotism.

Fear Riots During Funeral For Alleged Victim of Third Degree

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—Lottie Lorenc, 14, who, her father charges, died as a result of third degree torture by police, was to be buried today under guard of heavily armed squads of police to prevent possible rioting.

Riot guns were issued to three squads of reserves and police in automobiles are in readiness at several stations.

Police and a crowd of 500 men fought a 20-minute battle in front of the home of the girl's parents last night. Three officers were injured severely, twelve rioters were laid out with night sticks and seven persons arrested.

The Lorenc girl was arrested Tuesday on a charge of grand larceny. While in custody she became ill and was sent to a hospital. Before she died she told her father that police gave her an ice cold bath and otherwise tortured her.

Police Commissioner Frank H. Croul has issued an official statement denying the charges.

Increase Guard Around New York Newspapers as Strike Continues

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Additional police guards were posted today outside of offices of New York newspapers where "combined" editions are being published despite the pressmen's strike.

The lines of battle were tightened, with men and employers both voting determined resistance to the other's demands at meetings lasting into the early hours.

Major George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's Union, ordered the men back to work, but they definitely refused to go. After this decision had been announced the publishers called for a new union and asked that all the strikers be outlawed.

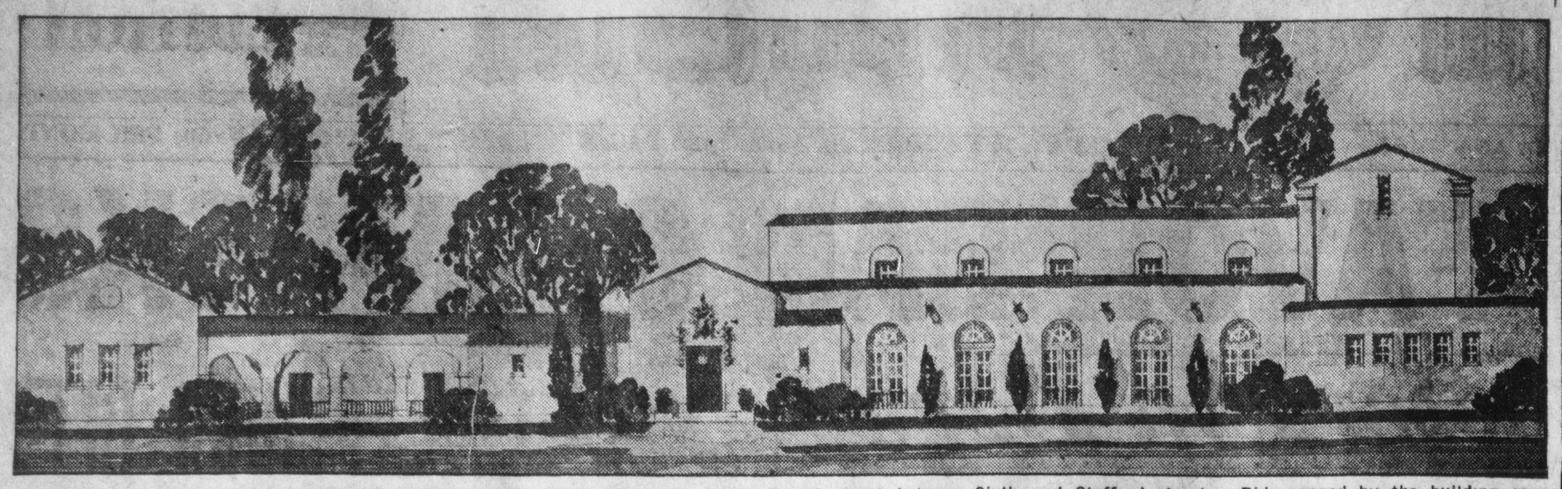

Meanwhile, New York's newspaper readers went without their papers for the most part. An increasing number of the "combined" editions of eight pages appeared for sale, but the number was not nearly sufficient to take care of the news hungry city's demands.

There had been no reports of violence early today since the arrest of five men who attempted to destroy copies of the "Combined New York Morning Newspapers," Wednesday morning.

It was agreed by leaders of both sides the strike appeared unlikely to end today.

The men wish now to negotiate their differences directly with the employers, who, in their turn, want the strikers outlawed and a new union established.

EBELL CLUBHOUSE BUILDING BIDS RANGE TO $68,632

Perspective of proposed club house to be erected by the Ebell club on its lot on French street, between Sixth and Stafford streets. Bids opened by the building committee last night revealed that contractors estimated the cost at between $60,830, low bid, and $68,632, high bid. Final disposition of the bids will be made at a meeting of the club members at the Temple theater Monday, at 2:30 p. m.

U. S. DRY LAWS HERE TO STAY SAYS NELSON

"No matter what some persons in the United States may think of the Eighteenth amendment, or about its effect on their personal liberty, that amendment is written into the constitution of these states and it is written there to stay."

District Attorney A. P. Nelson, before a student body assembly at the Santa Ana high school, today climaxed an address on the constitution of the United States with this statement.

"I don't know when or how but sooner or later the people of this country will rise up and insist on the adequate and full enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment," Nelson declared. "When two-thirds of the people of the country raise their voice in support of any principle, it will stand as long as the country exists."

Describes Constitution.

Discussing a difficult subject in a way which commanded the unqualified attention of his auditors, Nelson described the making of the constitution, its importance as a foundation of our government, and its provisions for liberty and justice.

"There is no country in the world," Nelson said, "where there is a greater measure of personal liberty and justice and it is the constitution of the United States which provides these things.

"There are more than 400 newspapers and magazines in the country intentionally spreading insidious propaganda against the government to a population of more than $5,000,000 persons. It is high time that the thinking people of our country set aside one week to preach the doctrine of true Americanism.

"Public officials, like myself, are handicapped and almost helpless in the absence of support by the people."

James Gilstrap, vice president of the student body, was in charge of the morning's program. Principal D. K. Hammond outlined to the students the policy of the school with regard to eligibility lists and described the rules regarding moral supervision over students.

Hammond announced that the honor society list for the current semester was being made up and urged all students to work toward membership in this organization.

Norman Pixley announced the interclass debates, organization for which were to be made in A. B. Gardner's classroom this afternoon.

tombstones in a cemetery, practically the only thing left erect among the ruins.

Meetings of property owners were being held to plan rebuilding. It was considered probable that a new plan for laying out the burned district embodying the most modern ideas in city planning, would be adopted.

Reports of insurance adjusters indicated that the losses were possibly not fifty per cent covered by insurance.

THIRD WEDDING PERJURY TRIAL NEARS END

Attorneys at the third trial of Victor Torterice, charged with perjury in connection with his marriage in Santa Ana to his cousin, Jennie Patt, were summing up the evidence today before the jury here in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court. It was believed that the case would go to the jury shortly after the noon recess.

Argument of counsel was taken up when court opened at 10 a. m. and occupied most of the morning session, after which Judge Williams started reading his instructions to the jury, which was composed of C. H. Dahlen, J. A. Simpson, G. D. Campbell, L. W. House, C. M. Hoagland, A. T. Dungan, J. W. Wing, F. W. Carlson, N. C. Phinney, H. H. Robertson, D. H. Dunkin and J. J. Hayes.

In his address to the jury, Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley reviewed the charge, which alleged that Torterice, knowing his cousin to be only 17 years of age, made an affidavit that she was 19 when securing the marriage license last June 11.

Mozley pointed out testimony showing that Torterice had lived in the Patt household in Los Angeles, had heard the ages of his cousin and her brothers and sisters discussed, and attended a party in honor of her seventeenth birthday last February.

For the defense, Attorney J. Morgan Marmaduke attacked the prosecution's case as weak and "half hearted," declaring that the charge was inspired purely by what Marmaduke terms the animosity of Frank Patt, the girl's father, who, the defense declared, would and did perjure himself in the trial in an effort to make the strongest possible case against his nephew.

Marmaduke contended that the prosecution had not proven that Torterice signed the affidavit; that the girl was not actually of legal age, or that Torterice had known she wasn't.

The building committee of the Ebell club today had under consideration bids for building a proposed clubhouse on French street, following opening of the offers by the committee at a meeting last night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Robbins.

On the completed structure the offers ranged from $60,830 to $68,632. They were taken under consideration and will be presented to the club at a meeting at the Temple theater next Monday afternoon.

Members of the building committee present last night were Mmes. Robbins, S. W. Stanley, John Gowen and E. M. Neally. Mrs. A. J. Crookshank, president of the club and ex-officio member of the committee, was present also, as was Frederick H. Eley, architect.

Three Proposals Given

Three different proposals were submitted to contractors for estimating costs, and members of the club Monday will be asked to decide which of the proposals they wish to accept.

The first proposition is on the building complete, according to plans and specifications. The second is the building complete except the floor and inside work, including gallery of the auditorium. The third is with the auditorium unfinished and the north part, which contains the section rooms, omitted.

The bids on the different proposals were as follows:

Bids Are Listed

Hoffman and Tully—No. 1, $64,260; No. 2, $59,294; No. 3, $45,120.

T. S. Weston—No. 1, $66,011; No. 2, $59,906; No. 3, $46,506.

J. S. Fluor—No. 1, $68,632; No. 2, $62,632; No. 3, $50,372.

R. C. McMillan—No. 1, $64,632; No. 2, $53,946; No. 3, $39,007.

Bowman and Preble—No. 1, $60,884; No. 2, $53,325; No. 3, $39,315.

Simpson and Colst—No. 1, $60,830; No. 2, $51,630; No. 3, $38,930.

Hill and Reinhard—No. 1, $66,700; No. 2, $59,700; No. 3, $51,200.

Bids to complete the south part and eliminate the north part were: Bowman and Preble, $46,874; Simpson and Colst, $48,130; McMillan, $49,693.

It is said the ways and means committee will formulate plans for additional funds to complete the building project after the members of the club had decided the method of building.

It was pointed out that the club, some time ago, postponed a proposed fund-raising campaign when it was announced that effort would be made to secure a new and permanent home for the Day Nursery.

RANKS JOB TO COURT ORDER, IS EXCUSED

Contempt proceedings were dismissed here today by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams in the case of G. T. Walters, charged with non-support and under orders of the court to make alimony payments to his wife.

Walters was haled into court for contempt after he had failed to make appearance last Friday for a hearing, in connection with a previous alimony order, which had not been complied with.

Today Walters explained that after some difficulty and long waiting he had secured work on a truck line between Los Angeles and Fresno; that he had been en route to Santa Ana last Friday when he received orders to turn back and aid in bringing in a truck that had been wrecked. It meant the loss of his position if he disobeyed orders, he said, so he missed his appointment with the court.

The court excused him on his promise that he would comply with the alimony order.

DISMISS SUPPORT CASE

A charge of non-support had been dismissed today by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams in the case of Frank Romero, who was brought into court on a bench warrant yesterday after he had failed to appear last Friday. Dismissal followed Romero's showing that he had not made appearance because of a misunderstanding.

PROBE CHARGES MAN TIED TO DELPHY MAST

ing started the investigation by questioning Lieut. Richard H. Cruzen, engineer officer of the Delphy.

In answer to a question asked by Lieut. Commander Leslie E. Bratton, Judge Advocate, as to what he knew of the circumstances surrounding Pearson's death, Lieut. Cruzen said:

"I heard the Captain (Lieut. Commander D. T. Hunter) discussing it with Captain H. E. Watson the next day on the beach. He said it was the hardest decision he ever had to make, but he believed he had done right."

Lieut. Cruzen was asked if he knew why Pearson was tied to the mast and who did it. Lieut. Cruzen said he only knew through hearsay as to why he was lashed and did not know who actually tied the knots that bound him.

Shipmates tell the pitiful story, as follows:

"Shortly after the Delphy struck the treacherous rocks a number of the crew jumped overboard. When Pearson came from below decks, he saw several of his shipmates struggling in the water.

"He ran to the rail and leaped into the sea. He wore glasses. The water near the Delphy was covered with a thick coating of oil. When Peterson struck the water, his spectacles broke, causing pieces of the shattered glass to pierce his eyes.

"He arose to the surface, shouting for help. A shipmate jumped overboard to his rescue.

"When Pearson was finally carried to the Delphy's deck from the surging water, he was practically blind and bleeding about the eyes.

"'God help me; God help me!' He shouted at the top of his voice as he began running wildly about the deck. He ran directly into a hatch, bruising his body terribly. The blow knocked him to the deck.

"While he lay on the deck squirming, yelling and apparently momentarily insane, some one ordered him lashed to the mast.

"Two hours later the Delphy broke in two, Pearson going down with the ship."

Several days later, a body with the head missing, and thought to be Pearson's, was washed ashore. The body was still secured to the mast.

PUBLIC AWAKENS TO NEED OF AMPLE WATER SUPPLY

In calling for a report of the Public Affairs committee of the Kiwanis club, at yesterday's meeting, Chairman Barr brought out more fully than it has heretofore been made public the effort of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club to crystallize public sentiment on the question of an ample water supply for the Greater Santa Ana that the present rapid growth and development of the city in every direction insures.

The effort of the Kiwanis club in this matter was directed not only to the crystallization of the strong but unorganized public sentiment in favor of the project, but also to the ascertainment of the attitude of other towns and cities of the county towards the suggestion of joint development of a common water supply for as many communities as might be found willing to co-operate.

To this end, under the direction of the club, the chairman of its public affairs committee interviewed members of the Santa Ana board of city trustees and found them interested and quite willing to give the proposition careful consideration, if the trustees of other cities should be found favorably disposed.

In order to ascertain the sentiment of the trustees of other cities, the Public Affairs committee of the Kiwanis club sent out the following letter:

Santa Ana, Aug. 21, 1923.
The Honorable Board of City Trustees,
Orange, Cal.

Gentlemen: The Kiwanis Club of Santa Ana has delegated to me, as chairman of its Public Affairs Committee, the very pleasant and important duty of taking up with the city trustees and Kiwanis Clubs in the various towns of Orange County the matter of joint development, if it seems practicable, of a large, permanent water supply for the various towns and villages of the county.

The fact that all parts of the county are growing with tremendous rapidity—at a ratio far in excess of the ratio of increased development of domestic water—and the further probable fact that water must be impounded or developed for Santa Ana or Orange or Anaheim — indeed for most parts of the county—at a point that would make it available as a common source of supply for all communities—these facts strongly urge cooperation and careful consideration of the matter on some such basis as has been so successfully adopted in sewage disposal for the four principal towns of the county.

The primary and preliminary thought I had in taking this matter up with our Club is that if we can get the cooperation of the other clubs of the county—and if the suggestion meets with favor from the city boards of trustees—we can at least devise some means of securing funds with which to employ a competent water engineer to make a survey of the sources of supply and the practicability of joint development and distribution; and this letter is merely to bring the matter to the attention of the boards of trustees and Kiwanis clubs of the county in order to ascertain whether or not they would be interested in taking the proposal up in a more definite way. Please consult your associates in this regard and write me how they feel about it.

If the suggestion meets with favor, even with a few of the communities of the county, it will then be in order to have a meeting of representatives of such clubs and boards of trustees as may care to go into the matter more fully and more definitely.

While I am not fully informed as to the facts, I feel very sure that the development of an ample and permanent source of water supply is quite as important to most of the other cities and towns of the county as it is to Santa Ana. We have an ample supply of water for all present needs, but it is a mere matter of arithmetical progression to the point where the growth of population of Santa Ana and vicinity and the development of industries will demand a far greater supply of water than can be had from present available sources. It would seem a suicidal civic policy for this city, or any other city in Orange County similarly circumstanced with respect to water supply, not to take time by the forelock in such a vital aspect of community development.

Thanking you for an early reply with as much detail and definiteness as possible.

Very truly yours,
—J. P. Baumgartner.

Two Neighbor Cities Favorable

Replies to the foregoing letter were received from Anaheim and Orange, as follows:

Anaheim, Cal., August 24th, 1923
Mr. J. P. Baumgartner,
Santa Ana, California.
Dear Sir:
At a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Anaheim, held August 23rd, 1923, your letter in regard to the matter of joint development of permanent water supply in the various towns of Orange County, and the means of securing funds for development and distribution, was read.

I was instructed to write you, and state, that this Board will cooperate with the various towns in Orange County in the development and distribution of water, and believe the suggestion a very good one and worthy of careful consideration.

Yours truly,
—Edward B. Merritt,
City Clerk.

Orange, Cal., August 29, 1923.
Mr. J. P. Baumgartner,
Santa Ana, California.
Dear Sir:
In response to your letter of August 21st, will say that the Board of Trustees of the City of Orange will gladly cooperate with any Committees that are working on the development and conservation of our water supply. They have delegated me to represent the City of Orange in this matter.

Very truly yours,
—O. E. Gunther,
Chairman of the Board of Trustees of City of Orange.

Fullerton has not replied.

It was suggested, yesterday, that the letter be sent also to the Newport Beach city trustees and the Laguna Beach Sanitary district, and this will be done at once.

Bank President Approves

A. J. Crookshank, president of the First National bank, is a member of the Kiwanis club Public Affairs committee, and the letter issued by the chairman of that committee was submitted to Mr. Crookshank for his approval. Concerning the matter Mr. Crookshank wrote as follows:

August 24, 1923.
Mr. J. P. Baumgartner,
c-o S. A. Daily Register,
City.
Dear Mr. Baumgartner:
Referring to your letter of the 21st:

I am very much in favor of looking up a common source of water supply for all the communities in this vicinity, and believe that steps should be taken to ascertain where and how a water supply can be had.

I suppose it would be hard to determine the method of obtaining money to meet the expense of such an investigation, without having in mind the source of supply.

I am perfectly willing, however, to bear my share of any preliminary expense.

Yours very truly,
—A. J. Crookshank.

FINANCES FOR NEW HOSPITAL TO BE AIRED

Development of plans for financing the construction of a modern hospital plant here, with facilities commensurate with the wealth and demands of this vicinity, is expected to be a result of a meetig tonight of the citizens' committee appointed to direct plans for a drive for finances.

The conference is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock at the office of A. J. Visel, 510 North Main street. The committee is composed of some of the most prominent men of this city, with S. H. Finley as chairman. Temporary organization of the committee has been made and it is expected a permanent organization will be completed tonight.

Tentative plans of the Santa Ana Valley Hospital corporation contemplate a hospital of seventy-five rooms, with the most modern equipment and appliances known to medical science. It is estimated such a structure and equipment, together with a site, will cost approximately $300,000, according to a person closely affiliated with the movement to provide Santa Ana with the declared necessity.

It was pointed out that if this community is properly to take care of its sick, a larger and more modern hospital is imperative.

The corporation's option on a site at the corner of Washington and Grand avenues has expired, it was reported today.

Higher Standards in American Homes

—Nowadays the good things of life belong to us all. It is the age of high standards of living. And it is a tribute to the wholesome thought of America that the home comes first, richest of all possessions. Nothing we may acquire can make up for a neglected home.

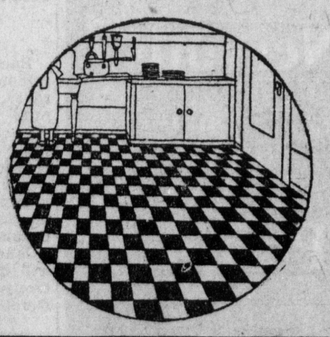

—And while it is perfectly natural in our prosperous age that everyone should want beautiful furniture, it is even more remarkable that furniture of artistic appearance and sound quality should be priced within the reach of all. It is simply a matter of knowing where to buy.

"Yours for quality—but always at the lowest possible price"

In the Realm Of Society

Calumpit Camp

(By A Comrade.)

Did you ever see a contest where both losers and winners won? That is what occurred Tuesday night, at G. A. R. hall when the losers in the membership contest entertained the winners thereof and made a winning by the class of their entertainment. Calumpit camp and auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans enjoyed the best entertainment and banquet that they have had since they were established and that is saying much.

Credit for the success is due the committees, especially to M. C. Cooper, the genial chairman and to H. G. Miller, the very effective master of ceremonies.

Praise was given to Mrs. Bertha N. Dixon and Mrs. Nannie H. Reed for the good work pefformed in obtaining new members, especially to the former, who was presented with a fine amethyst brooch during the evening by the members of the auxiliary. Mrs. May Glaze, of Fullerton, made the presentation speech.

The occasion being the sixth anniversary of the marriage of Adjutant and Mrs. Charles E. Dixon, they were taken in charge by Mrs. Glaze and "Big Dan" Mears and marched to the head of the lodge room where "Bishop" W. W. Tantlinger was enthroned and proceeded to perform a second (mock) marriage of the happy couple. His style of delivery is much improved since he performed a like ceremony for Officer of the Day M. C. Cooper and his good wife. He also used two rings for this marriage; one was a fruit jar ring which was placed on the thumb of the groom and the other was a garter which the groom was compelled to place properly on the bride. However the second ring was too large and slipped down over the bride's shoe.

There was a guessing contest on a glass jar of beans in which every one registered a guess. There were 796 beans in the jar, and Mrs. Nellie Kenney, with a guess of 807, was presented with a handsome Weller luster vase; Mrs. Lulu Chatlain, with a guess of 763, won second prize, a hand painted plate.

The program opened with singing the "Star Spangled Banner" Mrs. Buelah Botkin at the piano; the Misses Elizabeth and Rose Donnelly, of Anaheim, with violin and piano played "Turkey in The Straw" while Comrade Hardin T. Reed danced a clog; Comrade D. J. Donnelly, of Anaheim, recited a "Scotchman's Lord's Prayer" after which he sang a song dedicated to the First California Volunteers "In Front of Malate, P. Is.;" the Misses Josephine Miller and Dorothy Gowman entertained with a military dance, with Mrs. Botkin at the piano; Bob Bradford sang "I Love You" and "Old Pal" with Miss Gean Ross as accompanist.

Mr. D. C. Denning, of Fullerton, then appeared on the scene and after some rapid fire repartee between him and "Cap" Miller, went to the piano and sang a couple of darky melodies. He excels at negro dialect and his rendition of "Mammy Jinny's Hall of Fame" was so well received that he rendered "Darling Nellie Gray" in such a manner and with such pathos that one only had to close one's eyes to see the tottering old darky quavering his lament.

With Mrs. Botkin as accompanist, Miss Louise Plummer danced, in costume, "Liebesfrod" and "Sailor's Hornpipe" and looked charming as a sailor boy in blue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell and Mr. D. S. Reeves entertained with old fashioned music on the violin, piano and banjo when "Mollie Hopkins," "Money Musk" and "Turkey In the Straw" recalled childhood days to the comrades.

The attendance was so good that extra tables had to be arranged and the guests voted that it was the best "feed" given by the Spanish War people. After the banquet Mr. Bob. Bradford again entertained with songs and everybody went home in a happy state of mind.

Young Matron Offers Incentive For Gay Evening at Cards

Gathering last night at the home of Miss Katherine Packard, 510 South Broadway as a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Jerome Entz, formerly Miss Betty Newman of this city, a little group of warm friends enjoyed an evening of cards as they extended best wishes to the honoree who will leave soon for Arizona to join her husband, Jerome Entz.

Five hundred was the chosen diversion with Miss Louise Ford carrying off the honors of the game and Miss Loletta Antoine scoring low.

At a late hour in the evening, Miss Packard served dainty refreshments to her guests who included Mrs. Betty Newman Entz, the honoree, the Misses Loletta Antoine, Louise Ford, Irene Natland, Mae and Inez Pierce, Stella Halesworth, Velma Moore, Ruth Thomas, Katie Pierce, Henrietta Lykke, Mrs. R. G. Hall, formerly Miss Esther Dutton, and the hostess, Miss Katherine Packard.

Newly Organized Club Plans Future Events

Members of the "Orange Brand" club, comprising members of the Nicholls-Loomis company organization, have elected officers and arranged for monthly meetings to promote company interest and good fellowship, it was learned here today.

Under the auspices of the club, employes of the company, friends and their families picnicked at Redondo Beach last Saturday, enjoying an annual affair. To augment well-filled baskets, the company furnished "Orange Brand" juice. President Albert E. Nicholls made a short talk, as did other members of the club. Prizes were awarded in various sport events. A cooling dip in the ocean added to the hilarity.

Gas Company's Efficiency Club Greets Guests At a Happy Social A ffair In New Club Quarters

"Efficiency, service, loyalty, cooperation. Those are the cardinal points of your organization. But there is yet another word which should by rights be suspended here in your club-room and that is the word 'courtesy.'" So declared L. A. West last night in speaking before members and friends of the Orange County Efficiency club of the Southern Counties Gas company, assembled at the new Santa Ana home of the company for a house-warming and banquet.

Such a house-warming and heart warming as it was! For the 150 or more persons who gathered in the great grey-tinted rooms at 6:30 o'clock felt their hearts expand with the sincerity of the greeting extended by a little group of executives both of the company and the club, including J. C. Hayden, district superintendent and Henry G. Miller, club president.

The speaking and other entertainment followed the banquet served promptly at the appointed hour and prepared under the direction of W. K. Duffy, which insured the deliciousness of the chicken fricasee, fluffy mashed potatoes, gravy, hot biscuits and other delectable articles on the bill of fare. A little group of the club members formed a capable corps of waiters, exemplifying the name of their organization.

Following the dinner, (served in the big garage) the guests were taken on a tour of inspection of the various rooms and departments so soon to house the thriving corporation, the tour ending in the club-rooms on the second floor, designed for the use of the Efficiency club alone. The modern kitchen with its many conveniences ranging from great cupboards to sink equipped with hot and cold water, drew the admiring comments from housewives present.

The club-room's hardwood floor, waxed for dancing, will make possible many happy social events of the future, and a piano all in readiness, not only added to the pleasures of last night's program but will add to those of the future.

With Mr. Miller presiding in his official capacity, regular session of the club was called to order, to the keen interest of the guests who heard the rapid fire of repartee between the president and his members with thorough enjoyment.

In his welcoming address, Mr. Miller emphasized the loyalty of those who had stood by the club during the days when sessions were in the poorly equipped social rooms of the old quarters and who were now to reap the reward for their faithfulness in the pleasant new quarters provided through the generosity of the company and its president, F. R. Bain of Los Angeles.

S. W. Todd, general manager of the Industrial Fuel Supply, now of Anaheim, former district superintendent and organizer of the club, then spoke of the growth and development of the organization since its founding in 1916. He voiced a deep pride in the club of which he was president for three years.

It was following Mr. Todd's talk that Attorney L. A. West, the company's legal advisor was introduced, and voiced his thought that courtesy not only should be a logical companion to the four ideals of the club, but was exemplified in the daily attitude of the company's employes to the general public. Mr. West emphasized the fact that it is not the perfunctory courtesy demanded by employers that counts, but that which, extended in an affable and personal manner, emphasizes a kindly, personal interest and wins friends for a corporation. His remarks were interspersed with amusing stories and keen little thrusts at his friends, the executives, that keep his audience in a ripple of mirth.

The "Ad, Dramatic club" of Fullerton was represented by a harmony quartette composed of the club's organizer, D. C. Denning, Paul Langlie, Edward Feuquay, and "Bob" Williams. Their voices blended beautifully in a series of songs including "Carolina Mammy," "Roll 'Em Bones" and a clever melody of well-known popular songs arranged by Mr. Denning and used by him in concert work a few years ago when he directed the "Angelus Comedy Four" a Chicago musical entertaining act.

The Ad Dramatic club donated its services last night out of friendship for Mr. Miller. The idea back of the organization is an excellent one, the club listing entertainers (soloists, dancers, musicians of all kinds and readers) and standing roady to produce for clubs, lodges, or other organizations desiring entertainers, the kind of program desired at reasonable prices.

Following the musical features, Horace Fine, a guest, was unexpectedly called upon for a talk and responded in a thoroughly happy vein, pointing out the mistake of speaking of heartless corporations in view of the warmth of heart shown by a corporation which would plan for such quarters for a little club of its employes. His talk was followed by the final one of the evening, that of J. C. Hayden who presented the freedom of the building to the club and its guests and told of the coincidence which brought the formal club opening on the seventh anniversary of his arrival in Santa Ana. President of the club for several years, Mr. Hayden voiced the deep interest he feels in the organization and the proper exemplification of its four principles.

With the adjournment of the session, chairs were removed and dancing enjoyed for the remainder of a happy evening. Chapman's orchestra of half a dozen pieces, offering the usual delightful program called forth the usual remarks "Isn't this orchestra remarkable for the perfection of its time?"

Tomorrow night, the company will entertain the mayors of the different cities of the county, members of the local city council and other prominent business men of the community asked to meet company officials including the president, F. R. Bain.

Monday night, October 1, the great public reception will be held with a cordial invitation issued the entire countryside to come and inspect the handsome new quarters where the entire force hopes to be installed by the first of the month.

Among special guests last night in addition to the families of the club members were Messrs. Fred Champion, industrial engineer, L. A. West, S. W. Todd, Frank Reinhart of Newport, T. K. M. Smith of Anaheim, J. E. Wallace, J. E. Wilburn, (construction foreman), A. A. Patterson (of the supply department), Los Angeles and Eleanor Young Elliott and Horace Fine of The Register staff.

Afternoon of Whist Is Enjoyed By Guests

Enjoyable in every detail was the attractive party presented yesterday afternoon by Mrs. H. A. Shugart and Mrs. F. E. Groty, at the Shugart home, 305 Fruit street, and attended by some thirty-five women members of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Against a background of carnations and zinnias, tables were arranged for progressive whist and when the afternoon's scores were tallied, Mrs. C. C. Taylor was awarded a handsome fruit bowl in brilliantly colored glass on a black base, as first prize.

Mrs. George W. Young scored second and received an attractive candy jar in crystal, while to Mrs. Ashby Turner was presented a bottle of "catchup" as consolation and a gentle hint.

The afternoon closed in friendly fashion over the tea table when the hostesses served Neapolitan ice cream, cake and fruit punch as the guests chatted of various affairs of their circle including the next Altar society session at the Lieberman home on French street in just two weeks.

Ebell Club

True friendship being undoubtedly founded upon loyalty, there is a former and well-loved Ebell president who may be very sure of the staunch friendship of innumerable club sisters who hastened today to correct a seeming discourtesy and injustice.

The president in question is none other than Mrs. J. W. Bishop and the rallying to her colors followed yesterday's social page story of Ebell affairs in which Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank was acclaimed as the sole Ebell president to be recalled to the chair in other than a consecutive term of office.

While the honor is truly a great one, entirely applicable to Mrs. Crookshank's personality and ability, she had a predecessor in Mrs. Bishop who was really the first to be so recalled. Mrs. Bishop served as the fourth Ebell president and was followed in turn by Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Edward M. Nealley and Mrs. Crookshank after which she was recalled to serve as the eighth official in direct line, thus receiving the highest honor her club could pay her, added to the honor of being the first one so assured of the love and esteem of her fellow Ebell members.

Trilogy of Functions Is Concluded With Bridge Luncheon

When Mrs. Charles Kendall sr. gathered together a group of friends for bridge yesterday afternoon, she offered the final one of a trilogy of pleasant social functions which she has sponsored during the past week at her home, 311 Cypress street.

The afternoon at cards was preceded by a delightful luncheon served at five small tables arranged throughout the pleasant rooms where baskets and bowls of zinnias offered a colorful background.

At the earlier affairs, Mrs. Kendall introduced mah jongg as the entertainment feature but yesterday the ever-popular bridge, was restored to favor with Mrs. Alice Harris being adjudged victor, Mrs. W. L. Tubbs scoring second and Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill holding low. Attractive gifts in needlework fell to the fortunate lot of the three.

Mrs. Kendall was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Kendall jr. and by Mrs. L. A. Collver and other guests included Mesdames J. N. Bartholomew, W. L. Deimling, Alice Harris, Frank B. Miller, A. P. Nelson, Charles Riggs, J. B. Roberts, H. H. Reeves, Terry Stephenson, Robert R. Shafer, Burr Shafer, Prince Topie, Robert G. Tuthill, W. E. Winslow, W. L. Tubbs, W. S. Lysle of Tustin, Walter B. Leecraft of Long Beach, M. Russell Scott of Pasadena and Miss Katherine Edwards.

Household Economics

"Ideals of a Home" will offer the topic for consideration at the first meeting of the year of Ebell's third section, Household Economics with Mrs. W. B. Williams, 1502 North Main street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Associated with Mrs. Williams as hostesses will be Mrs. A. C. Bowers and Mrs. F. M. Robinson.

Baptist Young People

Members of the Young People's society of the First Baptist church will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the home of the pastor, Otto S. Russell, 1018 Spurgeon street.

Bridal Shower Honors Local Maid to Wed Anaheim Man

One of the week's pleasantest affairs was the gift shower presented Tuesday night by Miss Julia Carter to honor the betrothal and approaching marriage of Miss Esther Otto and John D. Arnett of Anaheim.

The hostess used a general color harmony of pink with which masses of blossoms blended charmingly. As amusement for the evening, she produced tea towels which the guests hemmed and added to the store of the bride-elect.

Just prior to the refreshment hour, Miss Otto was presented with the assortment of beautiful gifts, all of which will find appropriate place in the new home-to-be. It was with many happy wishes that the guests then enjoyed the dainty refreshments whose serving brought a happy evening to a close.

Enjoying the hospitality of Miss Carter and showering gifts and good wishes on the honoree, Miss Otto, were Mesdames J. E. Otto, Lydia Hill, Irvin Fickas, Robert E. West, George Manderscheid, S. J. Webber, Harry Jesse, Elmer Warren, Fred Devenney, Alfred Manderschied, Paul Plavan, Edith Bohannon, George Matthews, who until a week ago was Miss Helen Jesse, Mrs. Jess Holley of Los Angeles and Mrs. L. Greatest Crude Oil Storage In History Fails to Halt Drilling

Never before in its history has California figured so largely in the calculations of oil men throughout the country as at present. To a large extent this state is dominating the entire oil industry of the United States, and the reason for this is to be found in the continued flush production of the three fileds in what is known as the Los Angeles basin.

Crude oil production in California during the first six months of the current year was 117,390,826 barrels, and of this record-breaking total fully 65 per cent, according to the figures of the American Petroleum institute, were produced in the Santa Fe Springs, Long Beach and Huntington Beach fields.

Consumption also has increased largely over any previous year, but the demand has not been sufficient to absorb this enormous supply, more than 11,000,000 barrels having been carried to storage in the period from January 1 to June 30. The total storage on the latter date was 72,637,147 barrels.

Record Surplus

This is the greatest surplus of crude oil ever accumulated in this state or anywhere else in the world. The three big fields in Southern California are largely responsible for this condition, nothing approaching the production volume of these districts ever before having been seen. From a marketing viewpoint, this situation has presented some exceedingly difficult problems, and the only means for obtaining even partial control has been in an effort to curtail the output so far as possible.

Steps in this direction were taken about two months ago, when a committee of independent producers was organized with a view to inducing the producers in the three fields near Los Angeles to cut down the output of their wells from 25 to 40 per cent. This effort has not been altogether successful, but there has been sufficient co-operation to bring about some important results.

Mighty Output

H. H. Maxon, president of the Independent Marketers' association, states that a conservative estimate of the production that is now shut in in this state is 200,000 barrels a day. Despite this, however, the total ouptut continues close to 800,000 barrels a day.

"In the opinion of a number of oil men who have been closely studying the situation, the peak of production should be reached in California during the coming fall," said Maxon. "However, that may be said to be little more than a guess. Still, reports of operations in the Huntington Beach field for the last two months indicate that possibly the peak already has been reached there, but the signs are far less distinct at Santa Fe Springs and Long Beach. New wells continue to be brought in in both of those fields, and the output continues to increase rather than diminish.

Unique Situation

"Nothing like the present overproduction of crude oil has ever been seen, and it naturally follows that marketing conditions have been adversely affected. Nevertheless, considering the enormous obstacles which have presented themselves, the situation has been handled in a remarkably able manner. This has been done, however, at an enormous cost to the large producers in providing storage facilities for the surplus oil. In ordinary times the announcement that the Standard Oil company was preparing to build a 3,000,000-barrel oil reservoir at El Segundo would be a matter of first importance, but when it is considered that this reservoir would be sufficient to take care only of the excess production in June, and that already about 20,000,000 barrels of storage already have been built or are under construction at Watson's Siding alone by five big companies, it loses much of its significance.

ÆSOP'S FILM Fables

AMATEUR NIGHT ON THE ARK

To give the animals a lark
Noah gave a show upon the ark.
To make them all quite satisfied,
He picked his acts diversified,
Some played, some danced, while others joked
And each in turn applause provoked
But towards the end a boxing bout
Made the whole thing end in a rout.

The moral in this fable spun:
You never can please everyone.

SANTA ANA TWELFTH IN CALIFORNIA BUILDING

GREATEST ERA OF GROWTH IN HISTORY OF CITY IS SEEN

Romaine Berger, Realtor, Opens Office Here to Reap Profits

FURNISHING QUARTERS

"Reading Hand Writing on Wall Brought Me Here," He Said

Declaring his belief that Santa Ana is now on the verge of its greatest development era and that the city is destined to become the greatest of the smaller cities of the southland, Romaine Berger, manager, today announced the contemplated opening here on October 1 of an office for the C. B. Berger company, one of the most successful operating real estate firms in the county.

Berger revealed that he had closed a long term lease for the room at 602 North Main street, in the Hotel Cooper building, and that decorators today were at work in finishing the interior. He said the Santa Ana Cabinet company is now building mahogany fixtures for use in the office. The office here will be fitted up in the same artistic and convenient way that characterizes the company's office at Anaheim, he said.

Indicating the character of business conducted by the company, its enterprise and the scope of its operations, it was pointed out here today that the company had successfully managed the sales in such subdivisions as the Peralta Hills tract, in Santa Ana Canyon; Cerro Villa Heights, near Villa Park, for the Jotham Bixby company of Long Beach; the Mayberry ranch, on West Seventeenth street, Santa Ana, and the Berger tract at Anaheim. The company is now developing and selling the Berger half-acres, on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anahiem.

Berger also revealed that R. C.

Smash All Records In Erecting Big Tent City for Fair

Speaking of building activities—

R. D. Flaherty, manager of the seventh annual Orange county fair—which opens in Santa Ana next Tuesday—said today that Downey Brothers of Los Angeles, operating in this city, have broken all existing records during the past week.

"In less than five days," said Flaherty, "Downey Brothers have erected a structure here that will easily accommodate fully 75,000!

"Yes, it's a tent city—and the canvas covers more than 110,000 square feet. By tomorrow, hundreds of exhibitors, moving into this great 'house' built by Downey will set the establishment in order, beautify the various nooks and crannies and make this one of the most attractive 'buildings' in Southern California."

According to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, the horse show and rodeo, to be staged in connection with the big fair, will be one of the most pretentious affairs of the kind ever attempted here. Ed G. Stinson, Dr. L. C. Deming and others will display purebred stock. Deming will exhibit Valencia Rex, one of the finest stallions in the West.

Miss Ruth Renick, moving picture star and leading woman for Jackie Coogan, will be the mascot of the rodeo.

KFAW ANNOUNCES MUSICAL PROGRAM

KFAW will entertain its listeners-in tonight, from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock, with a musical program, which will be offered by Miss De Etta Miller, pianiste; Louis de Loach, violinist, and Joseph Pantaleone, lyric tenor. This will mark De Loach's first appearance at The Register studio. Advance reports stamp him as an exceptional violinist. Both Miss Miller and Pantaleone have favored KFAW's audience before and on each occasion have registered successes. A card from Dalton Atherton of Fullerton, addressed to KFAW, reports he enjoyed last Monday night's program.

MARKET PLANS SECOND BIG EXPANSION

Gerrard Brothers Secure Additional Quarters on East Fourth

Marking the second expansion in their Santa Ana stores in the past year, Gerrard Brothers today were executing plans for enlarging their groceteria at 304 East Fourth street by consolidating of its present quarters with the room adjoining, 302 East Fourth street, recently vacated by the Baggerly-Dickey Furniture company.

The improvements and new fixtures, it is estimated, will involve an expenditure of $10,000, according to Will A. Gerrard, manager of the East Fourth street store. The company recently purchased the building at 302 East Fourth street. When completed the store will have 6000 square feet of floor space. Improvements will include a new refrigerating plant, Gerrard said. He added the 6000 square feet space will be utilized in various ways to provide one of the most convenient markets in Orange county.

Fourth Street Frontage.

Pointing out that the remodeled building will give the store a frontage of fifty feet on Fourth street, Gerrard said that there will be a twenty foot opening on Spurgeon street, to be used as a confectionery, where light lunches and soft drinks will be dispensed.

"The bakery and fruit and vegetable stands will be located in the Fourth street front of the building, while the market, with entire new equipment, will occupy a space at the east side," said Gerrard.

"The rest of the store, approximately 2500 square feet, will be used for the grocery department. This will allow plenty of room to display the large stock of goods and eliminate congestion. The improvements, we expect, will make marketing by our patrons a pleasure rather than a distasteful necessity."

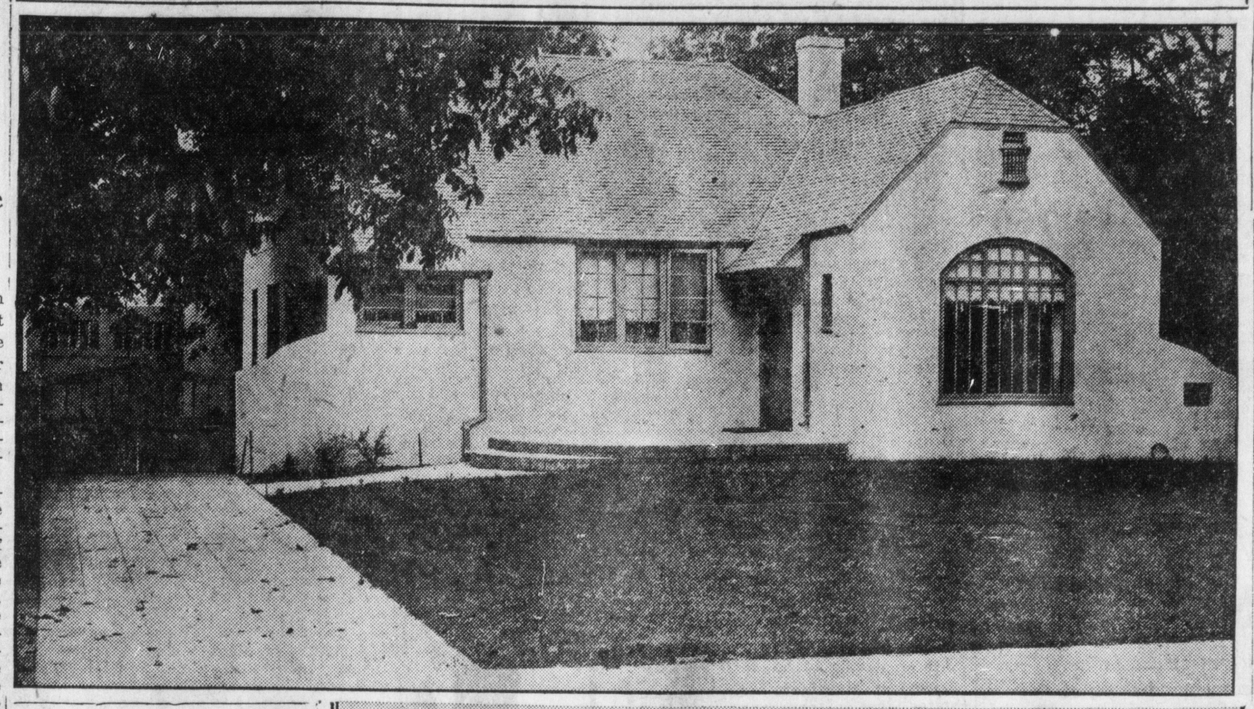

Six Years In Business.

Gerrard, who has conducted the store for six years, and successfully, said that the remodeled store probably would be opened December 1.

"We are making the improvements to keep pace with the expansion and development of Santa Ana's east side," continued the

BEAUTIFUL NORTH BROADWAY PARK HOMES

SANTA ANA NOW THIRTEENTH IN REALTY MEN

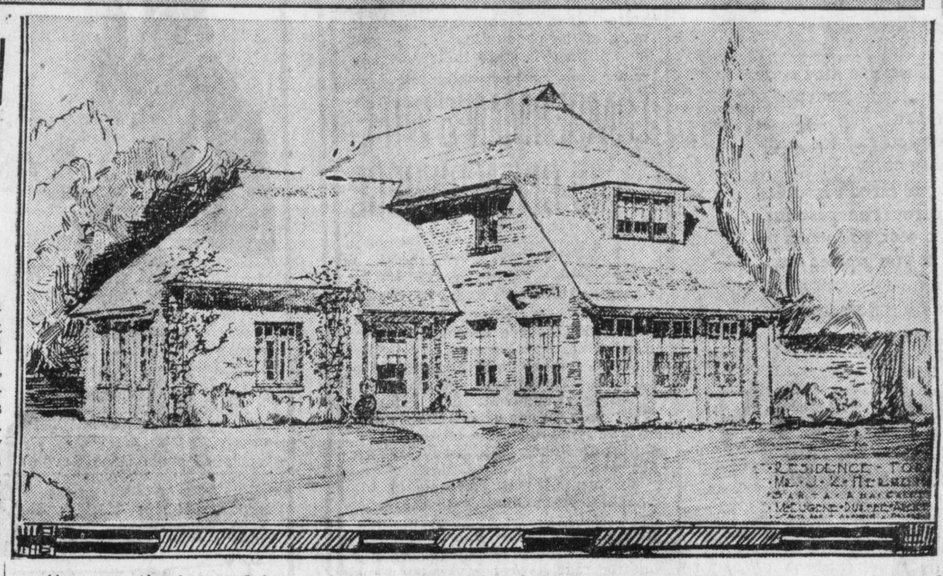

Santa Ana is tied with San Jose for the thirteenth largest realty board in California with forty-five members. Sacramento, twelfth, has only two more members, and San Diego, eleventh has only four more realtors enrolled. Los Angeles leads, but has only 198 members, a figure which has surprised many who thought at least 500 barterers of terra firma made that city their stamping ground.

These figures are secured from the September issue of the magazine "California Real Estate."

2,000 Over State

Total members in the state association—by reason of membership on local boards—has passed 2,000, and to be exact is 2,040, ac-

INCREASE IS 50 PER CENT IN YEAR

Other Western Cities Show 41 Per Cent August Gain Says Report

PRICES STABILIZED

Economic Condition Prevailed In Month of National Activity

Twelfth among California cities in the value of new building according to the tabulated report for August prepared by S. W. Straus and company, Santa Ana has established a stride showing an increase of 50 percent of 1922 building.

Official building permit reports from 252 comparable cities for August show a substantial increase of building activity over August, 1922, and over July of the present year. The totals are $256,722,581 for August, 1923; $233,882,261 for August, 1922, and $241,393,803 for July, 1923; an increase of 10 per cent over August, 1922; and 6 per cent over July of the present year.

This gain over July is particularly significant in view of the fact that during the past decade August permits in the principal cities and towns have shown a loss from July each year excepting three, the report said.

The upward tendency in building permits also is emphasized somewhat by the fact that July permits this year (as reported in last month's survey) showed a loss from June in the Eastern, Central, Southern and Western sections while there was a gain in August over July in all sections excepting the Eastern cities, which lost only $1,500,000.

Approximate stabilization of building material prices appears to have been reached during August. There were some changes in both directions, but they were of minor consequences and the general level was scarcely affected. This stabilization which first began to manifest itself in the latter part of May, was more pronounced in June and reached its greatest potency in August.

It is important that this economic condition prevailed in a month of increased nation-wide building activity.

The Eastern Cities reporting show a gain this August over August, 1922, of 7 per cent and a loss of 1.3 per cent from July, 1923. The Central cities show an August gain of 3.5 per cent and a July gain of 8.7 per cent. The Southern cities show a gain over August, 1922, of 2 per cent and a gain over July of 9 per cent. The Pacific Western cities show an August gain of 41 per cent and a July gain of 27.7 per cent.

In the following list the first set of figures in each group of three is that of August, 1923; the second that of August, 1922; and the third, that of July, 1923:

Alameda, $119,129; $119,609; $285,463.
Alhambra, $523,705; $323,275; $463,015.
Berkeley, $620,435; $566,300; $444,700.
Eureka, $67,500; $28,500; $106,000.
Fresno; $286,413; $407,398; $271,916.

Long Beach, $1,566,817; $856,988; $1,377,332.
Los Angeles, $22,249,262; $11,523,891; $15,083,273.
Modesto, $87,355; $44,625; $260,885.

NEW FURNITURE WAREHOUSE IS COMPLETED

The J. C. Horton Furniture Co. has completed a large warehouse at the Santa Fe tracks and Brown street, 50x130 feet, covered with corrugated iron, according to J. C. Horton. All shipments of furniture will henceforth be unloaded from the railroad siding alongside the warehouse, thus relieving the congestion of shipping activity and heavy stocks of furniture at the store on Fifth and Main streets.

"Our service to customers will be improved by the transfer of these operations to the warehouse," said Horton, "since our present shipping department at the store will be used exclusively for delivery purposes. It will also enable us to enlarge our finishing department and to give a better service in preparing furniture for delivery. All uncrating, unpacking and storage of reserve stocks will be handled at the warehouse."

With a contract let to B. R. Ford for paving the streets within that portion of the subdivision represented by the ten-acre tract formerly owned by Walter R. Fine, Fine completing plans for moving next week to 114 West Santa Clara street and later razing his old residence, and with proceedings under way for street improvements under bond acts on the remaining portion of the fifty-acre subdivision, the Southern California Investment company today was making preparations for a big rush of lot buyers in the North Broadway Park subdivision at the head of North Broadway.

According to Freeman H. Bloodgood, realtor in charge of sales, improvements on the streets will include an ornamental lighting system on North Park boulevard; the boulevard, in a sense, being an extension of North Broadway. It offers an avenue connecting Broadway with Flower street and Chapman avenue.

Fine has puchased of Mrs. Elma Leonard the residence at 114 West Santa Clara avenue and is having some alterations and additions made preparatory to moving his family in next week.

Free Distribution Of New City Map Fills Big Need

According to announcement today by Max Smith, of the Wilmax Land company, with offices at Broadway and Third, hundreds of Santa Anans this week have shown their appreciation of the fine map of Santa Ana printed by the company for distribution here and the east.

Following announcement last week that the map was ready for distribution, the office has been besieged with local residents interested in sending to friends and relatives residing elsewhere dependable information on the city and county.

The map contains new streets reecntly added and is complete down to the minute. On the reverse side are pictures representative of the various lines of endeavor in this county, with detailed information as to products, their volume and their money return to the county.

The reverse side also is featured by a map of Santa Ana Garden, a subdivision of 1000 acres southwest of Santa Ana and known as the Von Schriltz ranch.

"The maps are distributed gratuitously and have been placed in many stores and offices in the city," said Smith. "The public is invited to look for a white box on which is written 'Free Map of Santa Ana, Take One,' and to help themselves. The maps are only one of several features formulated by the Wilmax Land cmpany to advertise and boost Santa Ana. We recently sent out over 18,000 personally addressed leters containing descriptive folders of Santa Ana, to National Realty Board members of the United States, Canada, and Hawaii."

GREATEST ERA OF GROWTH IN HISTORY

Goodcell, who has been identified with the Anaheim office for a number of years, had been selected as manager of the Santa Ana office. Goodcell will move his family to Santa Ana by the first of the month, according to Berger. William Hutton, of Santa Ana, referred to by Berger as a practical and successful orchardist and rancher, will operate out of the local office exclusively on country property. Berger himself will devote his time to the sale and exchange of country property and development of loans for such properties.

According to Berger, he is developing a staff of reliable and efficient men to specialize in serving the public and handling city properties, exchanges, rentals and loans.

Reading Signs.

"Reading the handwriting on the wall, as it pertains to the future of Santa Ana, I have decided to become identified with the city and assist in and be a part of the future expansion and growth of the county seat," said Berger. "In my opinion, Santa Ana is on the eve of its greatest development. All conditions point to the city becoming one of the largest and most important of the smaller cities of the southland, and my energy and influence will be directed in boosting the city to its greatest population growth, industrial development and business expansion. We want to grow along with this community and be one of the progressive firms that will be firmly established when the city reaches a population of 50,000—and that is only a few years in the future."

manager. "It will mark the second enlargement of our store in Santa Ana within the past twelve months. Last year, the West Fourth street store under the management of H. A. Gerrard, moved into new quarters following substantial improvements. These stores are two of the Alpha Beta chain, which has grown in the last six years from three to twelve stores, located in different cities in Southern California. Five of them are in Orange county. The rapid growth in the volume of business of our stores in this county has evidenced confidence in us by Orange county residents."

HIDING PLACE UNDER PORCH SHORT LIVED

REEDLEY, Sept. 1[illegible]—Jesus Martinez, 19, and Finotos Vosgez, aged 28, are in the Fresno county jail charged with carrying concealed weapons. The charge is the result of a disturbance here.

Martinez and Vosgez, together with an unidentified man entered the Neil and Barnes store Saturday to buy shirts. While clerks were waiting on two of the men, Vosgez is said to have slipped a pair of trousers into his overalls. The act was seen, and he was forced to give up the trousers.

The three Mexicans fled from the store, pursued by Albert Crosby, a clerk and by Bud Gallaher and C. W. Huey who were in the store at the time. Vosgez collided violently with the glass column in front of the store and was thrown down, but was up and away before his pursuers could stop him.

The unidentified Mexican fled down the street and made his escape. Vosgez was pursued down the street, and his pursuers were followed by Martinez. By doubling back, Martinez and Vosgez managed to get together, Martinez drew a long knife from his clothes and handed it to Vosgez, who turned upon his pursuers.

While the pursuers hesitated, not wishing to get in close touch with the knife, the two Mexicans hid under a porch. They were forced to come out and were brought to the justice court for examination. Martinez, who had had the knife on his person, was found to have two razors also.

Traffic Squad Works Despite Pay Warning

RTDWOOD CITY, Sept. 1[illegible]—San Mateo county's traffic squad, consisting of six officers, returned to work after an absence of more than eight months. The men were forced from office by a court ruling, which declared their positions illegal. The officers are returning to work despite an announcement by State Controller Ray L. Riley that he will refuse to approve claims for their salaries because certain appropriations were not made by the State Legislature.

North Broadway Park Has Many Fine Homes

he razes the old residence he is vacating, he will be obliterating a landmark that has stood in that vicinity for a little more than forty-three years, a portion of the building having been constructed when his parents located on the property in February, 1883.

Laying of sewer on the Fine unit of the North Broadway park, started Tuesday morning, according to Bloodgood, who said that contemplated improvements on this unit would be rushed to completion with all possible speed.

That two local furnifure men have selected locations on Bonnie Brea street, was disclosed today by Bloodgood. C. H. Henderson, of the Ashby and Doherty Furniture company at 406 West Fourth street, already has completed plans for building on his lot. Work is in progress now and will be completed within sixty days, it was expected today.

Another Home.

Mort Riser, one of the owners of the Spurgeon Furniture company, has purchased on Bonnie Brea and contemplates erection of a residence at an early date, according to the sales agent.

Bowman and Preble, contractors in charge of the construction of the $18,000 residence of J. K. Hermon, president of the Santa Ana branch of the Pacific Southwest, are rushing work on the residence. It is located on the corner of Santa Clara avenue and North Park boulevard. The tract office has been moved from the corner to the corner on Bonnie Brea street and Santa Clara avenue, so that Hermon may do grading work necessary to carry landscaping plans around the new residence. Hermon and his family expect to occupy their new home by the middle of October, Bloodgood says.

Bloodgood says that other lots have been sold and that a number of prospective purchasers are only awaiting completion of the contemplated street improvements before making definite decision.

SOCIAL AFFAIR AT BEACH LIONS' PLAN

Tentative plans for a ladies' night, with dinner, dance and moonlight boat ride at Newport Beach, were announced at today's meeting of the Lions club, at St. Ann's Inn, by Mark B. Lacy, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The social affair will be set for the evening of October 5, if the clubhouse of the Newport Harbor Yatcht club is found to be available for the evening.

Music by the Yost theater orchestra, quizzinz of members by T. B. Kelly as to their knowledge of the constitution of the United States and an address on the constitution, in observance of Constitution week, were features of today's program, with Z. B. West jr. presiding as chairman of the program committee.

Mozley gave an entertaining and enlightening address on the constitution, pointing out that certain paragraphs of the constitution of the Lions club evidenced that organization's loyalty and support of the national constitution.

Failure To Vaccinate Dog Draws $10 Fine

Failure to have a dog in his possession vaccinated cost A. F. Mercado $10. He was fined by Acting Judge Leo Goepper in the city police court here. The complaint against Mercado was sworn to by F. W. Faucett, poundmaster.

Mercado had violated the state quarantine law, the court explained. Under provisions of a quarantine regulation, effective in the county, the animals must be vaccinated.

"Until six months have passed without report of a case of rabies the quarantine will remain over Orange county dogs," Judge Goepper explained.

CHARITABLE ADVICE GIVEN BY LUCAS

Word has just been received from the Bureau of Advice of the Merchants' Association of New York, by P. S. Lucas, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Santa Ana, regarding a generous dupe who within the past three months has given over a thousand dollars in ten, twenty-five and hundred dollar lots to some thirty-seven organizations. Upon investigation it was found that only one agency on the list is doing a commendable piece of constructive work.

"While these facts are from the east, the same condition prevails here to a certain extent. I occasionally receive information concerning some of our generous hearted citizens where they have given unwittingly to some unworthy cause," Lucas said.

"It's a fine thing to be able to give and to 'Give until it hurts,' but it is wiser to first find out who you are hurting. For instance, giving a $10 check to a solicitor, is hurting the organization he represents to the tune of $3.30 because the minimum percentage received by solicitors is 33 1-3 per cent. Wirthwhile organizations do not employ solicitors to raise their funds.

"If folks would use a little careful thought with their generosity more good would result from their kindness. Every time you help a fraud you hurt a worthy charity.

"The good hearted gentleman who gave the thousand dollars to 37 different kinds of solicitors unwittingly harmed other worthy causes who are trying so hard to get money to help them to continue a really worth while work.

"That thousand dollars would have helped to build a Salvation Army hall that would be a shelter and a beacon light to some downtrodden unfortunate; or it would have bought 6,000 quarts of milk for the under-nourished babies of the poor; or saved the life of a tubercular patient, by sending him away for a year's treatment; or done many other fine things.

"For the sake of the worthy causes I trust that such stories will not be the means of making any one hard-hearted but rather make them a little more cautious in their efforts to do good. We need the generous heart and the open purse response to carry on the humanitarian work which faces every community, we must continue to give and 'Give until it hurts,' but we should be careful to know that our gifts are going to worthy, worth while works."

AMERICANIZATION IS AIM OF LECTURERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1[illegible]—The native born and bred Americans, as well as foreigners, who become naturalized, may need instruction in the principles and practice of their own government, is recognized by the National Civic federation, which is planning a series of lectures to be sent to co-operating organizations and societies, to inform the public on politic and economic issues.

The work will place material befor the people through organizations willing to lend themselves to this undertaking, such as women's clubs, D. A. R. chapters, American Legion posts, patriotic societies, fraternal orders, church and college clubs, teachers' associations, and labor, agricultural, commercial, and bankers' organizations. Facts, statistics, and lectures written by specialists, will be furnished them.

The program includes the following subjects: "Trusts," "Socialization of Basic Industries," "Government Regulation," "The Cooperative Movement," "Writs of Injunction in Labor Disputes," "Socialism and Bolshevism," "Free Speech and Free Assembly," "Immigration and Naturalization," "Industrial Arbitration," and "Party vs. Group Government."

Auburn Chamber Is Disbanded at Meet

AUBURN, Sept. 1[illegible]—At a meeting attended by eight persons, the Auburn chamber of commerce disbanded.

Lack of interest on the part of members was held to have caused the organization to discontinue. It was announced that bills against the chamber of commerce aggregated $260; that $900 was due from members and subscribers, and that office equipment and furniture, entirely free from debt, was valued at $650.

No meeting notices were sent out relative to the meeting where the disbanding took place, but it is announced that President Frank Bell reported at the meeting that he had called up most of the membership by telephone to give notice of the meeting.

W. F. Durfee, who has been acting secretary of the organization since the resignation of D. M. Ferguson, January 1, 1923, is out of the city on a trip with the San Francisco chamber of commerce. During his absence Mrs. Nellie Towle has been acting as secretary.

The Auburn chamber of commerce was reorganized nearly three years ago, and at the end of its second fiscal year, December, 1, 1922, reported 110 members and a surplus in the treasury.

JAP PROPAGANDA ON COAST DRAWS FIRE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1[illegible]—Floods of alien propaganda, frankly intimating that the Japanese Imperial government contemplates a compromise offer on the California problem, demanding naturalization rights for all Nipponese in America, in exchange for a halt of further oriental immigration, are now being widely disseminated throughout California and other Pacific coast states by Japanese interests, and are being sharply scored by Senator J. M. Inman of this city.

"If such a program is fathered by the Japanese government," declared Senator Inman, president of the Japanese Exclusion league, "it cannot be stated too forcefully that California will never countenance the naturalization of Japanese under any circumstances."

Inman continued:

"During every recent session of the legislature and constantly at all other times, we in California have been forced to adopt a ceaseless vigilance to protect our state from the aggressive program of Japanese 'peaceful penetration.'

"America is rapidly awakening to the problem which California has been trying to solve alone. This is a time when a compromise with Japan is unthinkable."

Dr. Tasuka Harada, professor in the University of Hawaii and for years closely identified with officials high in the Japanese Imperial government, has during the last month been a leader in spreading among the Nipponese colonies of California the Japanism protested by Senator Inman.

Ask Bids On Filming Great Elephant Hunt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1[illegible]—At last a fitting test of the noble, American movie heros lion heart!

"The Pursuit of the Pachyderms" is a scenario suggested by the department of commerce, in announcing today that elephant catching operations on a colossal scale will begin in Bengal in November and will continue through January, and that motion picture rights for this remarkable hunt are open to American offers.

The department is prepared to transmit bids for any American producers. A bag of not less than 20 of the big beasts is expected, according to a cable just received from Calcutta. It is hoped to apprehend and execute a number of rogue elephants, who have been terrorizing the peaceful population of Bengal.

Ferryman Is Sailor, Hence Made Citizen

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1[illegible]—That a ferry boat employe is a seaman within the scope of the naturalization law was the precedent established by Federal Judge Partridge when he admitted to citizenship Svend Oscar Jensen, who proved that for more than three years he has been on ferry boats in the bay; he also showed papers to prove he had seen deep-sea service. Judge Partridge, who has been sitting in the trial of Frederick N. Littleton, deposed naturalization examiner, demanded to see the papers himself.

"I've noticed," he said, "in our desperate struggles of the Littleton case in the last four weeks that judges ought to look at these papers for themselves."

How Long Till Wet Weather?

Why Not Cement ?

Cement may answer the question for you. Perhaps you have improvements which you need before wet weather arrives. Walks around your home, sidewalks, a drive to the garage or a floor for your garage are the usual demands in preparation for wet weather.

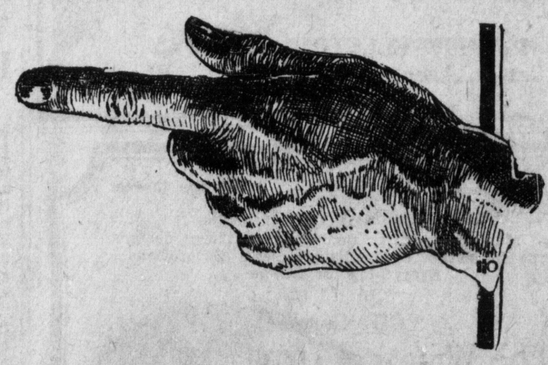

Cement—the kind that will endure—is what you need for such permanent improvements. Let us sell you Bear Brand Portland cement. We can back it to the limit. If our cement were less than the best we could not guarantee you value from sills to shingles.

Deft Touches that make the house a home

It may be only a chair, rescued from long oblivion in the attic, that lends a bright spot to an otherwise colorless room; or brilliant basket holding a bowl of flowers. But surely it is the little touches—the feminine touches—that make the house a home!

Women who are anxious to beautify the interior of their homes are devoted to such Fuller products as Silkenwhite Enamel, Decoret and Fullerwear Varnish. Decoret, a varnish and stain in one, imitates various natural woods—oak, mahogany, walnut, etc.

Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose. There is a local Fuller agent or dealer who carries Fuller Products. Why not see him today. Write, too, for our "Home Service" booklet.

WORLD-FAMOUS CONTRALTO TO OPEN SERIES

Matzenauer, world-famous contralto, she of "the voice of gold and royal purple," is to appear in concert at Anaheim.

This announcement, made here today, electrified thousands of music lovers throughout Orange county. The fact that this renowned singer was to appear in this section was looked upon as one of the outstanding events in the county's musical history.

The famous prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company will sing in the beautiful new auditorium of the Anaheim high school on the night of October 10.

This will be the opening event in a winter course of entertainment planned by the Inter-club Musical association of Anaheim.

This organization is headed by Romaine Berger, president. C. George Hedstrom is secretary.

"November 19," Berger explained, "the famous Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles will give a concert at the Anaheim high school. In March we will offer Reinold Werrenrath, America's foremost concert baritone. Later in the spring Olga Samaroff, one of the great masters of the piano, will give a recital.

"This is truly an imposing array of talent. One hundred representative citizens of Anaheim have become guarantors for the musical course. The winter's concerts are being brought to Anaheim at an expense of more than $4,000. Tickets for the entire course will cost but $5.50."

DROP PROPOSAL TO PURCHASE CHURCH SITE

The First Presbyterian church today had dropped consideration of a project to purchase the northwest corner of Ross and Walnut street as a site for a new church, following a meeting of the congregation last night, at which release of the option on the proposed site was voted.

A committee was appointed to employ an architect and make investigations as to the advisability of building additions to the present structure, on the northeast corner of Sixth and Sycamore streets, or the erection of a new edifice on the property.

The committee consists of W. M. Belding and Harry Lewis of the session, Sam Suddaby and G. B. Darnell of the board of trustees, Mrs. Charles Baird of the Ladies Aid, and Ralph Smedley, building secretary of the Santa Ana "Y." A representative of the Women's Missionary society, to be named later, also will be on the committee.

Following its investigations, the committee will report to a congrergational meeting its recommendations as to whether the present building should be enlarged or a new one built. It was pointed out today by a member of the congregation that the membership is unanimous in the belief that more room must be provided for the increasing attendance at the church. In the line of remodelling, it was suggested that an addition be made to the auditorium and the Sunday school facilities increased.

That members are deeply interested in providing additional facilities, was evidenced by the large attendance of members.

BOYS' ROTARY BAND REHEARSAL CALLED

Anxious to complete rehearsals for the appearance of the Boys' Rotary band at the Orange county fair here next week, S. J. Mustol, director of music in Santa Ana schools, today requested all members of the band to meet at Polytechnic high school here at 7:30 tonight.

"Heretofore," said Mustol, "the members of the band have been rehearsing at the junior high school, on North Main street, but, henceforth, we will rehearse at the high school, starting tonight. I am anxious to have the boys get in all possible practice between now and next week. The band will appear at the fair on four occasions—Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon and evening."

The organization has thirty-five members. Mustol reported excellent progress in the rehearsals.

RETIRED PASTOR DIES AT HOME IN SANTA ANA

With the death of Major J. Robinson here today at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Will A. Betts of the First Methodist church, finis was written on the life of a man whose name is familiar in manufacturing circles as the patentee of the Robinson buckle, invented primarily for use on heavy arctic shoes and now in general use on belts that are popular with women.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Winbigler Mission funeral home. The services will be in charge of the Rev. Clyde M. Crist, superintendent of the Methodist church for the San Diego district and located in Santa Ana. He was 78 years old.

The decedent is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Betts.

Born at Springwater, Livingston county, New York, March 20, 1845, Mr. Robinson entered the ministry following attainment of his majority. For many years he was pastor of Methodist churches in New York and in the state of Wisconsin. Ill health forced retirement from the ministry about thirty-five years ago, following which he devoted himself largely to the development of inventions. He came to California from Pueblo, Colo., in 1893, first locating at Long Beach and later at Los Angeles.

Accompanied by his wife, he came to Santa Ana five months ago from Long Beach to make his home with the Rev. and Mrs. Betts.

Just prior to his death, Mr. Robinson had secured a patent on an automobile brake which he invented. Tests are now being made as to the feasibility and practicability of the invention.

MESA CLUB TO MEET.

COSTA MESA, Sept. 20.—A reception for all the women of the Costa Mesa district will be held at the Woman's clubhouse here tomorrow, September 21, at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced today.

Each member of the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon club has been urged to bring a guest.

ATTORNEY ON BENCH TO EASE COURT JAM

With Attorney Clyde Bishop of Santa Ana presiding as judge protem in Department 1 of the superior court here, the first proceedings were under way today in the move to clear away congestion in local courts by recruiting attorneys to act as judges.

Trial of the suit brought by L. U. Wetherall of Anaheim against J. E. Walter and Company, automobile firm of that city, was before the court today, involving a claim of $590 by Wetherall, and a counter-demand of $495, by the defendant, in connection with the sale of an automobile by the motor company to Wetherall.

Wetherall, who claimed to have paid $900 in cash and to have signed a contract to pay $590 in twelve monthly payments, declared that the car was misrepresented as new, whereas, he alleged, it had been driven 3800 miles and was worn. His demand for judgment for $590 was made as an alternative to cancellation of the contract.

J. U. Hemmi, Anaheim attorney, represented Wetherall in the action. Attorneys Ames and McFadden, Anaheim, appearing as counsel for the defense.

ADVERTISING CLUB TO MEET MONDAYS

With keen interest developing in the Santa Ana Advertising club, the club has changed its meeting date from the third Wednesday evening of each month to noon sessions every other Monday, it was announced today by Stanley Reed, secretary. The change was decided on at a meeting held at Owens' cafe last night, where future meetings will be held.

W. D. Rudd, local representative of the National Cash Register company, was the speaker. Discussing salesmanship, Rudd said there are six points to successful salesmanship—enthusiasm, ability, honesty, knowledge, education and confidence. He said that many merchants are not successful in business because they carry larger stocks than are necessary and because they make a stock inventory only once a year. He declared that the most successful business men make inventories every month.

Rudd illustrated his talk with charts. Discussions followed, with the speaker answering questions propounded by members of the club.

ORDER EQUIPMENT FOR Y. M. C. A. 'GYM'

Gymnasium equipment to cost approximately $2,000 has been ordered for the Y. M. C. A. building here which is scheduled to be completed by December 1, it was announced today by Ralph Smedley, building secretary of the S. A. Y.

The equipment was ordered, Smedley said, from A. G. Spalding through the local agent, Victor Walker. The order included everything from floor mats to rings.

"Meanwhile," Smedley said, "our building continues to grow as do our volley ball teams. We'll have to install elastic sides on the temporary locker-room if the Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening volley ball crews grow much larger."

Legion Posts In South Protest Patients' Care

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 19.—Removal of Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas veterans who are patients in the Army and Navy hospital at Little Rock, Ark., and in the William Beaumont Army hospital at El Paso, Tex., was urged by the American rehabilitation committee of the 14th district which met at Dallas recently.

The veterans' organization has taken the stand against hospitalization of veterans' bureau patients in army hospitals, claiming that the patients do not receive the sympathetic treatment to which they are entitled. Investigations at the two hospitals indicate the proper segregation was not being maintained. The committee recommended the removal of tubercular patients to the Muskogee hospital for tuberculars and another which has been opened at Korrville, Tex.

Wine Thieves Loot Supply of Church

TURLOCK, Sept. 19.—Liquor thieves entered the Catholic church and the priest's residence and stole several hundred dollars' worth of sacramental wine. The church, excepting the altar proper, was ransacked, and even a chalice containing wine was emptied. The basement of the home of Father S. Quirk was broken into and a quantity of sacramental wine was pillaged by the ransackers. The loss was discovered when the priest was about to celebrate early mass. The thieves overlooked enough of the sacramental wine to make it possible for the priest to say both masses. Another permit will have to be secured before the Catholic will be able to hold services in Turlock.

Veteran Officer Is Reappointed to Job

FRESNO, Sept. 19.—Oliver M. Akers, who for ten years has been a member of the Fresno county probation department and since 1921 the chief probation officer, has been reappointed, according to an order signed by Judge S. L. Strother of department one of the superior court here, who handles all juvenile cases. His reappointment was recommended by C. B. Jackson, head of the county probation committee. Akers announced that he would retain all his deputies.

TEST ASPIRANTS FOR FOOTLIGHT POSTS TONIGHT

The 1923-24 season of the Santa Ana Community Players' association will be informally opened here tonight.

The occasion will be far different from the formal opening, to occur at the Temple theater next month, when the organization presents either "The Thirteenth Chair," well known play of thrilling mystery, or some other equally famous theatrical work.

Tonight's informal opening will be merely a gathering of men and women—some of whom may have never appeared behind the footlights—who will be given tests to determine their suitability for parts in "The Thirteenth Chair."

"It is not at all certain that we will produce this play," said Ernest Crozier Phillips, director. "That we should like to, however, goes without saying, for it is an interesting piece of theatrical writing, and bound to be popular with Santa Ana theater-goers.

"The question of whether we will produce it rests solely upon the outcome of tonight's tests, which will be held at the Frances Willard junior high school, on North Main street, at 7 o'clock. If suitable types appear for tests, then we shall proceed at once. If it is impossible for us to obtain the types needed, then we shall drop plans to put on this piece, and substitute another.

"The meeting will be held in the north room of the commercial building of the junior high school group.

"Executives of the Community Players sincerely hope that there will be a good attendance at tonight's tests."

VANISHING HEIRESS RETURNS TO VENICE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Miss Gwendolyn Van Hart, pretty 20 year old St. Paul heiress, who was reported missing yesterday, returned to the home of friends at Venice, Calif., it was learned today, after a several days' sojourn in Tijuana, Mexico, and San Diego.

The rumor that Miss Van Hart was attired in a bathing suit when last seen was denied by W. L. Newbre whom the girl is visiting. Mrs. Newbre said Miss Van Hart returned when she saw notices of her disappearance in the newspapers.

Value of Birds

Insect pests cause an annual loss of $200,000,000 to the cereal crops of this country, according to statistics of the Agricultural Department. They also cost cotton growers about $60,000,000 a year and timber interests $100,000,000, making a total annual loss of farm and forest products of all kinds estimated at $520,000,000.

Insectivorous birds are probably the most efficient agents with which to combat these pests. Each individual insectivorous bird is estimated to destroy a hundred insects in a day. Investigation in Massachusetts has placed the average of these useful birds at five to the acre, making a total to the state of about 26,000,000. For their daily menu they require something like 2,560,000,000, or about 21,000 bushels of insects.

To specify a little more particularly, the stomach of a female martin has been found to contain more than 2,000 mosquitos, a large number of house flies, cucumber beetles and other insects. A scarlet tanager, carefully watched, has been seen to devour gypsy moths at the rate of thirty-five a minute for eighteen consecutive minutes. Seventy canker worms have been found in the crop of a cedar-bird. Many birds, including the grouse, feed on the army worm, one of the most destructive pests in this country. A chickadee will eat more than four hundred insects or as many as 4,000 worm eggs in a day.

Dr. Claycomb has moved to 715 North Main St. Phone 614.

Diamond Tires

Phone 1906

There's this big thing about Diamond Tires that hits the motorist right: They are of unvarying quality—not the kind that a dealer has to say, "Well, that's too bad; you know you will get a bad one now and then, and it just happened that it had to be you!"

Why?

Because there is ONLY ONE GRADE of Diamond Tires—the makers don't have anything else to think about except to make ONE TIRE with every little improvement added that comes up in modern tire development.

Pretty safe, we are, when we say that we GUARANTEE PERSONALLY every Diamond Tire we sell—but it's nice for the motorist to know that we do!

Cutting Down Time and Space

This photo of Aviator B. H. Winslow of the Postal Air Mail Service taken just before he stepped into his plane at San Francisco for the first trip in the transcontinental air mail test went east by plane. It was the first San Francisco picture to reach New York. The postmarks tell the story. There was some delay owing to fog. But the second plane made a record of 27 hours and 21 minutes.

ARREST FORMER INSTRUCTOR AT PLUNGE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—Prof. R. J. Finer, instructor in swimming and diving at the local plunge up until September 1, was arrested yesterday on charges brought against him by R. S. Lyons.

Prof. Finer, who recently severed his connection with the local plunge, to accept a position with the new plunge at San Pedro September 15, was still at the local plunge following the announcement that the San Pedro pool would not be open for several days.

Lyons, who was in swimming, left $35 in his pocket and when he returned the money was gone. Prof. Finer was arrested yesterday morning by Officer R. "Tex" Choat.

Several times during the past few weeks articles have been missing from the lockers of people in the bath house and a determined effort is being made to stop the thefts. Finer's bail was set at $300, and he is scheduled to come before the local police court tomorrow.

BEACH MUSICIANS LEAVE FOR SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20—With the closing of most of the dance halls offer the county, Sidney Stewart, proprietor of the local dance hall has announced his intention of remaining open during the winter months.

The hall which was recently remodeled and painted is now fitted with tables and chairs and facilities for a cabaret luncheon in connection.

To put the finishing touch on the matter it is Mr. Stewart's intention to install a collapsible stage and one night of each week a special feature in the form of a vaudeville show or the like will be presented to the patrons. George Carrington and George Hinkle, two local boys who have been playing in the orchestra, left recently for Eugene, Ore., where they will attend college. Mr. Murray has been secured to fill Mr. Hinkle's place at the saxophone. As yet no successor to Mr. Carrington on the banjo has been secured.

Mateer's Drug Store has moved just around the corner on Broadway. Open for business while new building is being constructed. Mateer's Drug Store, Fourth and Broadway.

Pastor Objects To Boxing Bouts At Huntington Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—"Should citizens of Huntington Beach continue the license to the boxing exhibitions?"

This is the question that will be asked by the Rev. Andrew Shamel, pastor of the First Methodist church, in a short editorial which he will give at the evening service here Sunday.

Rev. Shamel brought the question up for discussion at the service last Sunday and will endeavor to determine the sentiment in regard to the matter. His chief objection, as far as can be learned, is based on an article appearing in the Huntington Beach paper stating that two boys appearing to be about 10 and 12 years of age were allowed to fight, one of them using unfair tactics.

Other bloody descriptions have also been brought to the attention of the pastor and it is his intention to launch a campaign against the holding of boxing exhibitions in the city in the future, he said.

BOY SCOUTS HEAR TALK BY PASTOR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20—Three local people attended the Scout Masters meeting held at Orange County park Wednesday night. Scoutmaster C. E. Morris, accompanied by Kenneth Ward and Robert McGuire made the trip to the park to spend the evening.

Last Saturday evening the Tecumpseh tribe, composed of five boys, enjoyed a banquet prepared for themselves and their friends by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. C. McGuire. The banquet was held in the First Methodist church.

Rev. Hurst of the First Christian church delivered a fine talk to the boys and girls assembled.

The five boys belonging to the tribe are Charles Mills, Harold Watson, Robert McGuire, Gilbert Hotchkiss, Daniel Duff, and Chief C. E. Morris. About twenty people were present.

TO BURN MORTGAGE AT SUNDAY SERVICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.— Sunday morning at the Methodist church members and friends will see the burning of the mortgage which has hung over the church for more than ten years.

An invitation has been extended to all former pastors of the church to be present Sunday morning. The debt, which was for $5000, has been raised during the past year by the trustees and it is stated that the church is now completely out of debt. The street bonds which are also held against the church have been paid off.

A platform meeting will be held in the church to celebrate the occasion.

In the evening the pastor will again bring up the subject of the boxing exhibitions by the question "Should Huntington Beach continue the license to the boxing club?"

Many people of the local church are also planning to attend the conference to be held at the First church in Los Angeles for several days beginning next Tuesday.

William M. Adair will represent the church at the laymen's conference to be held in Los Angeles at the same time as the church conference.

Dr. Forrest E. Wilson has been nominated as candidate to the general conference to be held at Springfield, Mass., in May, 1924.

The Aid society of the Methodist church met yesterday afternoon in the bungalow at the church. Officers were elected for the coming year.

They are asked to arrange to be at the booth at such hours as best suit their convenience and also to donate supplies in any or all of the classifications noted. All proceeds will be added to the clubhouse building fund.

PRODUCTION IS NOT SLUMPING SAYS REPORT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—Summeries of official production reports for the gusher fields of the Los Angeles basin, filed by oil operators with R. E. Collom, state oil and gas supervisor, do not show any symptoms of wholesale curtailment in production due to so-called salt water invasion spasmodically heralded as an avenue of relief from the present overproduction.

The record shows, on the contrary, that the production of these fields, in both percentage and volume of fluid produced, is exceptionally clean, according to the bulletin of the state mining bureau, department of petroleum and gas.

"Any other condition would be a sad commentary upon the efficiency of the co-operative enforcement of the so-called Water Infiltration Act under which the department of petroleum and gas functions. The supervisor advises those investors in securities who have hoped for a rapid drop in the overproduction of the southern fields to be guided by observations of the natural laws of decline of production rather than presupposed elimination of production by water. The latter would mean that all efforts at conservation have failed.

"The overproduction of oil in California is due to uncontrolled overdrilling. As long as town lot drilling remains possible production cannot be regulated. The condition is only partly ameliorated by attempts at regulating the flow of wells already drilled. However, in the face of great economic waste of money and materials, and of natural gas, with ten wells being drilled where only one ought to be, the work of preventing damage to the remainder of the oil and gas underground has been carried on without interruption.

"For the six months' period, January to June, 1923, the Huntington Beach oil field produced 17,953,000 barrels of oil and 276,000 barrels of water, of 1.5 per cent water. In the same period the Long Beach oil field produced 26,508,000 barrels of oil and 160,400 barrels of water, or six-tenths of one per cent water. Santa Fe Springs oil field produced 31,753,000 barrels of oil and 248,000 barrels of water, or eight-tenths of one per cent water. During the same period all other fields of the Los Angeles Basin produced 10,862,000 barrels of oil and 2,860,000 barrels of water, or 21 per cent water.

"Oil operators expect that as the fields get older, and gas pressures become reduced, water production will increase. However, with care in drilling and repair, water becomes more a result of decline rather than one of the dominating causes.

"Oil field operations reported to State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. E. Collom during the week ending September 15, 1923, show 24 new wells started, as compared with 17 during the previous week. The total new wells this year is 1020, as compared with 994 the same date last year.

"Tests for water shut-off this week numbered 39, the same number as during the previous week. Yearly total to date 1417, total to same date last year 1217.

"Deepening or redrilling jobs this week numbered 8, as compared with 7 during the preceding week. Total to date this year 446; total to same date last year 579."

Canyon Diablo

At some unknown time in the past, the largest meteor that ever struck the earth fell in Coconino county, Arizona. It buried itself, making a crater nearly a mile across and 600 feet deep, with a rim of earth splashed up 160 feet high all around the crater's edge.

This crater is Canyon Diablo.

Mining engineers once more are attempting to locate the huge meteor which lies buried somewhere under the floor of the canyon.

The Canyon Diablo meteor, according to scientists, weighs a million tons and is at least 300 feet in diameter. Some experts even multiply these figures by four.

If the meteor runs true to form, it is nine-tenths pure iron. But the lure that induces the mining engineers to attempt to unearth the Canyon Diablo meteor is that it probably contains huge diamonds.

Our old earth, rushing through space at a speed of 66,000 miles an hour, must have staggered when struck by the Canyon Diablo bullet. A legend of the Navajo Indians says there were three meteors, not one.

Meteors travel through space in swarms. Twenty million of them, large enough to be seen by the naked eye, shoot into our atmosphere every day—and usually are dissolved by friction with the air before they strike the earth.

The largest meteor ("shooting star") ever discovered weighs 36 tons and was brought from Greenland by Peary. So scientists are on tip-toes for a look at the giant beneath Canyon Diablo.

Only women, among ancient Romans, could wear red, yellow or white shoes.

Pound Marches On

The advocate of the metric system, having failed so far to introduce the system into the English-speaking nations, have turned their guns in another direction and are trying to bring about a change in the value of the pound weight, in order to give it simpler relations with the metric system. This would be accomplished by assuming that a pound has a weight of 500 grams, instead of 454. If this could be accomplished without upsetting civilization, the result would be of great value. But the 454-gram pound goes marching on.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Wall Street today found the European situation more encouraging than it had been for weeks. But considerable doubt prevailed regarding the immediate outlook for domestic business and this exercised a depressing influence on the whole market, which, however, took the form of restraint of bullish activities in the first four hours rather than any bear selling in the general list.

Some special weak spots cropped out in various sections of the industrial list, especially among the rubber and textile shares in which groups the decline was headed by American Woolen and Kelly-Springfield.

This heaviness finally communicated itself to the general run of industrials in the last hour and new lows on the current reaction were reached by Steel and other leaders of this class.

The market closed lower:

THREAT TO SEIZE PILOTS EFFECTIVE

City Recorder Leo Goepper has been collecting an average of $60 a day in motorists' fines since issuance of warrants in cases of the "tagged" failing to appear in court within five days.

No contempt of court charge may be filed against the motorist, however, the judge said, as a recent decision revealed that the officer's red tag did not constitute a legal court order.

Warrants, therefore, will be issued by the city court here in all cases where automobiles are tagged, Recorder Goepper said.

"Then, if the 'tagged' do not appear within five days, we'll send an officer after him," he added.

Recorder Goepper did not say who would pay the added costs.

"Raisins o' the Sun"
from the Pacific-Southwest

SINCE the beginnings of civilization the raisin has been famed as a delectable and nourishing food. Once only a seasonal delicacy, it is now used everywhere the year round.

The raisin industry has made rapid strides in the Pacific-Southwest. Sixty per cent of the world's supply is now produced here. In 1912, the cooperative organization of the growers was formed and handled 24,512 tons, bringing $1,500,000.00. Last year the Sun Maid Raisin Growers, composed of 14,000 vineyardists—90% of all in the United States—handled 180,000 tons, a crop valued at $37,980,000.00.

Through its inter-community system, this Bank has been able to materially assist the financing and recent re-financing of the raisin growers, and is rendering to the entire Pacific-Southwest a type of service quite impossible were its member banks operating individually.

New Grid League Holds First Meeting

WHITTIER IS ENTERED IN CIRCUIT

Curtain-Raiser Games Will Be Played by 110-Pound Team Aggregations

Whittier high school, formerly a member of the Orange league, today was affiliated with Santa Ana, Pasadena, Fullerton, San Diego and Long Beach in the newly-organized Tri-County league following the first meeting of representatives of these schools here yesterday afternoon.

The Quakers, by an unanimous vote of those present, were admitted to the circuit on condition that the play the "bye" games of each of the other teams. By this action Whittier will meet Santa Ana here November 3.

After considerable discussion it was voted to officially name the new athletic body the Tri-County league rather than the T. N. T. league which it has been called in the past.

Moore Named Prexy

Harry J. Moore, vice-principal of the Long Beach high school, was elected president of the league. James P. O'Mara,, vice-principal of the Pasadena high school, was named vice-president and D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, was selected as secretary.

Curtain raiser games will be played at all of the league tilts during the season except when the schools are playing San Diego. The Southerners will not enter squads in the league other than their 'varsity.

These curtain-raiser melees will be provided by the 110-pound elevens and the games will begin at 1 p. m. sharp. They must be completed by 2:20 o'clock so that the first teams may begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

130's To Play Fridays

The 130-pound team games will be played on the opposite field from the first team clash and on the preceding Friday. For instance when Santa Ana meets Long Beach, the first and 110-pound team games will be played here October 20, and the 130-pound game will be played at Long Beach Friday, October 19.

The system of finance as used by the Los Angeles City league last fall was formally adopted by the Tri-County loop. This policy calls for the sale only of student tickets previous to the regular general admission sale at the gate. Each school shall retain money raised by the sale of its own student pasteboards but funds taken in at the gate will be divided equally between the contesting institutions.

The price of the general admission ticket was set at fifty cents although by mutual agreement between the contesting schools this price may be changed.

Visitors Pay Own Bills

The traveling school must pay its own expenses but the home team will furnish all playing material which will remain in its possession at the conclusion of the game.

Legitimate expenses of the game will be taken out of money taken in at the gate. These expenses, as defined by the league, include only the money paid officials and the rental of grounds which is necessary at San Diego. Referees will be paid $10 a game and expenses. Umpires and head linesmen will receive $8 a game and expenses.

The league voted to fix Santa Ana as a regular meeting place for representatives of the league.

Each school will contribute $25 to a general league fund from which awards will be made for all branches of sport. These awards, which will go to the championship school, probably will be bronze plaques.

The league champion will enter the Southern California semi-final contests if it desires to do so.

Those present at the meeting were James P. O'Mara, Pasadena; A. S. Redfern and Glenn Lewis, Fullerton; J. M. Perry and Glenn Perkins, San Diego; Donald H. Douglas, O. C. Albertson and E. H. Chapman, Whittier; H. J. Moore, Long Beach, and D. K. Hammond and Ray Adkinson, Santa Ana.

FLEET STANFORDITE SEEKS NEW LAURELS

Morris Kirksey, former Stanford University sprinter, wants to compete in another Olympic meet. And he seems to be showing just as good form as he did in 1920 when he finished second to Charley Packard in the 100-meter race at Antwerp. Last winter in Australia he did the century three times in 9:4.

SPORTS of all SORTS

British sport writers are blaming American promoters and fighters for the rather low estate into which English and European boxing has descended.

It is frankly admitted on the other side that England has very little to boast of since the demise of Jimmy Wilde as the world's flyweight champion.

Comment printed in London on the outcome of the Dundee-Criqui featherweight championship fight was rather surprising to fight fans on this side.

Inasmuch as Criqui was virtually black-jacked into the Dundee match before he had been able to make any capital out of his victory over Johnny Kilbane and before he had an opportunity to show France what the first world's champion looked like, it was thought that some objection would be voiced.

The result of the fight, however, was accepted with complacance.

"Dundee's victory over Criqui," Sporting Life (London) said, "merely emphasizes the poor quality of our own featherweights. True, Joe Fox, the British champion, was far superior in the science of boxing than the Frenchman when they met fourteen months ago, but the fact remains that he fell a victim to Criqui's deadly right and was beaten in the twelfth round. There is no one here to beat Criqui and yet Dundee was able to dispose of the Frenchman in the same manner that our champion would outclass a second-rater."

* * * *

Tex Rickard is held responsible for the decline in British boxing, in the opinion of several writers. They point out that in offering such huge perses he increased the avarice of European boxers as well as American fighters and he brought about conditions whereby all the European boxers refuse to work for nominal purses on the other side, and dash to America for big money.

It is news to Americans to learn from these same writers that Rickard has ruined boxing also in the United States. The London papers told their readers that American fight fans had rebelled against Rickard and the other big promoters and were refusing to pay big prices for tickets.

Rickard will thrive on all the rebellion that has been raised against him.

The fans on the other side would have a different idea of the rebellion if they could see the list of receipts of the big fights staged here this summer.

* * * *

Some precedent may have been established by legal action taken recently in London by an owner against a jockey for damages resulting from a fall in which the horse was killed.

Charging the negligent riding of Michael Beary caused the death of a racing mare, Ironore, at the Kempton race meeting in May, H. J. Boam, the owner, brought suit for damages and he was given a judgment of 315 pounds.

* * * *

Perhaps the fear that Papyrus, the English Derby winner, might fall under him and he would be liable for damages, prompted Steve Donoghue, the king of the British jockeys, to ask a fee of $75,000 to ride Papyrus at Belmont in the international race next month.

* * * *

England hasn't much room to howl about the destruction in sports caused by American commercialism. Competent critics have expressed the opinion that at least five American jockeys would be willing to ride the American candidate in the international race for nothing and that they would be satisfied with the prestige and glory of the winner and the bonus that the owner of the winner might give him.

* * * *

Having no baseball on a national scale, baseball critics can't yell about the prices paid for professional ball players, but high prices for stars prevail in football, which the British national sport. Valuable players in England now command from $5,000 up when they are placed on the market.

PADDOCK DENIES QUITTING

N. Y. WORLD SERIES VIRTUAL CERTAINTY

Yanks Already "In" As A. L. Champs; Giants Still Pressed By Redlegs

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—With the Yankees unofficially "in" as the American League pennant winners and the Giants reaching the place of a logical certainty, another world's series for New York next month seems certain.

All the Yanks have to do now to win the pennant officially is to win one more game or to have one of the other clubs set the Cleveland Indians down once.

If the Yanks should lose all their remaining games and the Indians approach the impossible and win every one of their starts, the two clubs would finish in a tie and a play-off would be necessary. No one, even in Cleveland, is figuring on that play-off.

Giants Reasonably Safe.

While facing a harder task, the Giants are reasonably safe with a lead of four games over the Cincinnati Reds and six games over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

If the Giants win eight games out of the eleven remaining on their schedule, the Reds could not take the pennant by winning all of their eleven remaining games and they would finish one game back of the present world's champions.

Winning eight out of eleven games is no easy task for the Giants with their erratic pitching staff, but the job of winning nine or ten games out of eleven is just as heavy for the Reds, so the dope would indicate that the Giants are in again.

New York is not wildly excited over the prospect of another world's series in Manhattan and the Bronx. Lack of interest in baseball has been evident in the attendance at the two big parks since the middle of July and it is a certainty that the big boxing season has drawn heavily upon the resources of the sporting public in New York.

Practically the only comment about the world series has been of the facetious variety, with the remark that the Yanks, in their present slump, have begun to train for the series.

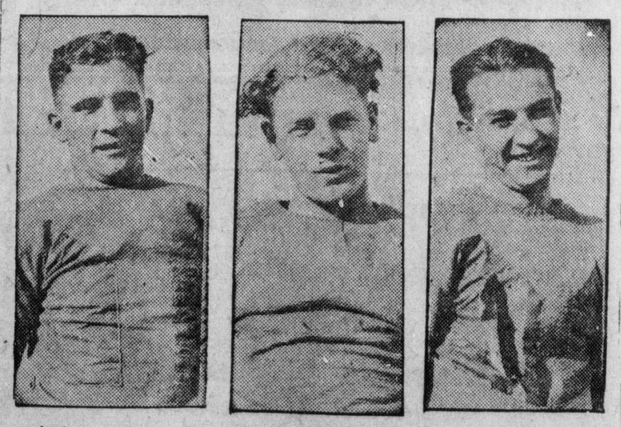

No arrangements have been made yet for the series, but it is probable that the first gime will be played about October 9. It will be started as soon as possible, because the weather will become more of a gamble the longer the start is delayed.

Sport Flashes

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. — "Get anyone you can and we'll take him," Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons, told Tex Rickard before leaving for California Rickard want to arrange a Gibbons-Carpentier fight.

S. A. Nimrod Finds Deer Scarce, Trout Plentiful On Trip

Paul Knauf, of the firm of Knauf and Faul, was home today from a three weeks fishing and hunting trip at Wishon camp, in big Kern river canyon, out several miles from Porterville. Knauf was a member of a party organized by Henry Ford, of Porterville, and a pioneer resident of Santa Ana.

Knauf said that while his party did not even see a deer they had plenty of venison to eat, supplied by other hunters in the mountains who were friends of Ford. Trout fishing was good, Knauf said. Incidentally the local man had some considerable experience horseback riding in the mountains, but is not taking his meals from a mantle.

SACRAMENTO FANS MOB TWO UMPIRES

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 20. Umpires James Ward and William Byron, bruised by stones thrown by angry fans, will umpire today's game between the Coast league leaders, San Francisco and Sacramento. This is in the nature of an ultimatum from William McCarthy, president of the league.

The two umpires were followed out of the ball field here by an angry mob after yesterday's game. In a shower of rocks hurled at them Ward was struck on the temple and knocked unconscious.

An escort of policemen, Umpire Byron and Catcher Yelle, of the San Francisco team, were also showered with stones. Yelle suffered a deep cut over one eye.

The demonstration resulted from a decision made by Byron on a play wherein Brown, Sacramento fielder, after a long run jumped high in the air and caught a fly against the center field fence. Byron ruled that the ball struck the fence before Brown caught it and held the runner safe. With the close score of 4 to 2 the decision probably decided the game.

RUBIDOUX DEFEATS FARRELL AT DELHI

Riverside Boy Has Slight Edge After Sensational Main Event Tangle

Although he had a rugged and "willing-to-mix" opponent through all the four rounds, Ad Rubidoux, Riverside bantamweight, outpointed Young Farrell in the main event at the Delhi arena last night and grabbed the decision after a mill plugged with action.

Rubidoux gave Farrell a boxing lesson in the first round and opened a bad cut over his eye in the third from which the crimson flowed steadily thereafter. Farrell tried desperately to even things in the final frame but the Riverside lad was able to hold his edge.

Red Williams gave away some weight to Jack Iman, local middleweight, and really had a slight edge but the fray was called a draw.

Sammy Santos and Eddie Dugan went at it hammer and tongs for four gory rounds to a good draw.

Jack Price and Bob Summers were chucked out of the ring for stalling. Johnny Doyle outpointed in the first stanza, finished strongly, and won the verdict over little southpaw Champ Monroe.

Buck Jones and Tommy Davis drew in the eye-opener.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ned Cornet, who is engaged to marry Lenore Hardenworth, is ship-wrecked with her and they take refuge on an island. With them is Bess Gilbert, a seamstress. The island is occupied by a brute named Doomsdorf and his Indian wife.

The master of the island takes Ned and the girls prisoners and bids them build a cabin for themselves. He gives them an old stove. Lenore is allowed to remain with the squaw and help with the housework, but Bess and Ned are made to labor until they both fall unconscious.

When the cabin is completed Doomsdorf announces that he means to have his slaves do his winter trapping for him. Bess and Ned are started on different routes. Ned has a fight with a wolf.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

NED did not wait to catch the full force of that blow. His powerful thighs, made iron hard in these last bitter weeks, drove him out and up in an offensive assault. His long body seemed to meet that of the wolf full in the air. Then they rolled together into the drifts.

The wolf wriggled free, sending home one vicious bite into the flesh just under the arm; and for a breath both contestants seemed to be playing some weird, pinwheel game in the snow. The silence of the everlasting wild was torn to shreds by the noise of battle—the frantic snarling of the wolf, the wild shouts of this madman who had just found his strength.

Then for a moment both contestants semed to lie motionless in the snow. The wolf lay like a great hound before the fireside — fore legs stretched in front, body at full length. Ned lay at one side, the animal's body between his knees, one arm around his neck, the other thrusting back the great head. The whole issue of life or death, victory or defeat, was suddenly immensely simplified. It depended solely on whether or not Ned had the physical might to push back the shaggy head and shatter the vertebrae.

Time stood still. A thousand half-crazed fancies flew through Ned's mind. His life blood seemed to be starting from his pores, and his heart was tearing itself to shreds in his breast. But the wolf was quivering now. Its eyes were full of strange, unworldly fire. And then Ned gave a last, terrific wrench.

A bone broke with a distinct crack in the utter silence. And as he fell forward, spent, the great white form slacked down and went limp in his arms.

XXIII

IN a little while Ned stripped the pelt from the warm body of the wolf and continued down his line of traps. He was able to think more coherently now and consider methods and details. And by the same token of clear thought, he was brought face to face with the fact of the almost inseparable obstacles in his path.

Plans for freedom first of all seemingly had to include Doomsdorf's death. That was the first essential, and the last. Could they succeed in striking the life from their master, they could wait in the cabin until the trader Intrepid should touch their island in the spring.

The difficulty lay in finding an opening of attack. Doomsdorf's rifle was never loaded except when it was in his arms, and he wore his pistol in his belt, day and night. For all his hopelessness, Ned had noticed, half inadvertently, that he always took precautions against a night attack. The squaw slept on the outside of their cot and would be as difficult to pass without arousing as a sleeping dog. The cabin itself was bolted, not to be entered without waking both occupants; and the three prisoners, of course, slept in the newer cabin.

Ned was working that part of the line from his Twelve-Mile cabin over the ridge toward the Forks cabin—his old rendezvous with Bess. He was somewhat late in crossing the range today. The blazed trail took him around the shoulder of the ridge, clear to the edge of a little, deeply seamed glacier such as crowns so many of the larger hills in the far North.

Few were the wild creatures that traversed this icy desolation, so his trap line had been laid out around the glacier, following the blazed trail in the scrub timber. But today the long way round was particularly grievous to his spirit. More than a mile could be saved by leaving the timber and climbing across the ice, and only a few sets, none of which had ever proved especially productive, would be missed.

Without an instant's hesitation he turned from the trail straight over the snowy summit toward the cabin. The cut-off would save him the annoyance of making camp after dark. And since he had climbed it once before, he scarcely felt the need of extra caution.

The crossing, however, was not quite the same as on the previous occasion. Before the ice had been covered, completely across, with a heavy snowfall, no harder to walk on than the open barrens. He soon found now that the snow prevailed only to the summit of the glacier, and the descent beyond the summit had been swept clean by the winds.

Below him stretched a half-mile of glare ice, ivory white like the fangs of some fabulous beast of prey. Here and there it was gashed with crevices—those deep glacier chasms into which a stone falls in silence. For a moment Ned regarded it with considerable displeasure.

He decided to take a chance. He removed his snowshoes and ventured carefully out upon the ice.

It was easier than it looked. His moccasins clung very well. Steadily gaining confidence, he walked at a faster pace. The slope was not much on this side, the glacier ending in an abrupt cliff many hundred feet in height, so he felt little need of especial precaution. It was, in fact, the easiest walking that he had since his arrival upon the island, so he decided not to turn off clear until he reached the high ground just to one side of the ice cliff. He crawled down a series of shelves, picked his way about a jagged promontory, and fetched up at last at the edge of a dark crevice scarcely 50 feet from the edge of the snow.

The crevice was not much over five feet wide at this point, and looking along, he saw that a hundred yards to his right it ended in a snow-bank. But there was no need of following it down. He could leap it at a standing jump; with a running start he could bound ten feet beyond.

He was tired, eager to get to camp—and this was the zero hour. He drew back three paces, preparatory to making the leap.

All the wilderness world seemed to be straining—listening. The man leaped forward.

At that instant the North gave him some sign of his power. His first running step was firm, but at the second his moccasin failed to hold, slipping straight back. He pitched forward on his hands and knees, grasping at the hard, slippery ice.

He slid rather slowly, with the sickening helplessness that often characterizes the events of a tragic dream; and the wilderness seemed still to be waiting, waiting, in unutterable indifference. Then he pitched forward into the crevice.

He was not to die at once. There was still hope of life. He leaped up, as if by a miracle, on a icy shelf ten feet below the mouth of the crevice—with sheer walls rising on each side.

XXIV

NED knew what fear was, well enough, as he lay in the darkened chasm, staring up at the white line of the crevice above him.

The shelf on which he had fallen was scarcely wider than his body, and only because it projected at an upward decline from the sheer wall had he come to rest upon it. It was perhaps 50 feet long, practically on a level all the way. The wall was sheer for ten feet above him; beyond the shelf was only the impenetrable darkness of the crevice, extending apparently into the bowels of the earth.

Very cautiously, in imminent danger of pitching backward into the abyss, he climbed to his feet. He was a tall man, but his hands, reaching up, did not come within two feet of the ledge. And there was nothing whatever for his hands to clingto.

If only there were irregularities in the ice. With a surge of hope he thought of his axe.

This tool, however, had either fallen into the crevice or had dropped from his shoulder and lay on the ice above. But there remained his clasp knife. He drew it carefully from his pocket.

Already he felt the icy chill of the glacier stealing through him, the cold fingers of death itself. He must lose no time in going to work. He began to cut, two feet above the ledge, a sharp-edged hole in the ice.

He did not forget that the handholds to which his fingers must cling were yet to be made. They had to be finished with even greater skill than the footholds. Very wisely, he turned to them next.

He finished the cut at last, then started on another a foot above. He hewed out a foothold with great care.

He made the first of them as high as he could reach. Then he put one in about a foot below. Three more footholds were put in at about 12-inch intervals between.

Placing the knife between his teeth, he put his moccasin into the first foothold and pulled himself up.

It did not take long, however, to convince him that the remaining work bordered practically on the impossible. These holes in the ice were not like irregularities in stone. The fingers slipped over them: it was almost impossible to cling on with both hands, much less one. But clinging with all his might, he tried to free his right hand to procure his knife.

He made it at last, and at a frightful cost of nervous energy succeeded in cutting some sort of a gash in the icy wall above his head. Standing so close he could not look up, it was impossible to do more than hack out a ragged hole. And because life lay this way and no other; he put the blade once more between his teeth, reached his right hand into the hole, and tried to pull himself up again.

But disaster, bitter and complete followed that attempt. His numbing hands failed to hold under the strain, and he slipped all the way back to his shelf. Something rang sharply against the ice wall, far below him.

COUNTY HARBOR IS FEATURE OF 'AD' PUBLICITY

Containing map showing the location and distance of important Southern California cities from Newport harbor, and presenting facts concerning the harbor, an advertisement appearing in a morning Los Angeles newspaper today was decided here to carry the greatest punch" of any of the displays soon appearing in the series under the advertising program of the Greater Santa Ana club.

Carrying the caption, "A Greater Harbor Plus," the advertisement reads in part, as follows:

"Here, plus the energy and accomplishment of Orange county and tributary country, plus the operating and shipping facilities and economies required by manufacturers, plus the congested condition of other harbors, smiles upon Orange county harbor. Not simply hope—attracting industry first on the promise of a harbor—but reality—harbor first, then the plans to take care of the certain coming of great factories and shipping activity.

"A wonderful area of land lies between Santa Ana and the harbor—it seems that every condition has worked it out to become a great manufacturing center. Even the exacting requirements of textile manufacturers are met here in a natural state that are often very expensive to create artifically. Railroads traverse this property. And there are several areas fronting the shoreline which have been filled in with dredged material, making available land suited for factory and other purposes. With the lure of cheap water transportation, cheap fuel, cheap factory sites, and economical manufacturing conditions, industry on a large scale is coming just as certain as Orange county harbor will become a great central shipping point.

"The time to invest in a concern engaged in a stable business is at its inception. The time to cast your lot with Orange county harbor is at the beginning of its development of business."

FAIL TO 'PLACE' ODOR; AUTOIST IS FREED

A mysterious odor on the breath of Harry Bordwine, Los Angeles motorist, noted after his car had upset on a grade near the county park last August 10, lingered but a few hours.

Yet that same odor's effect was felt here today as it had saved Bordwine from a charge that he was under the influence of intoxicating liquor when driving his car at the time of the accident.

Following a preliminary examination of Bordwine in Justice J. B. Cox's court late yesterday, the charge was dismissed on motion of Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin—all because of that mysterious odor, which admittedly came from a bottle, but which nobody could define. Even the trained nostrils of two physicians were baffled in placing its elusive, though evidently potent origin.

The testimony of the two physicians figured largely in Bordwine's favor, the results of their examinations of Bordwine after the wreck, as revealed in court, failing to clinch proof that Bordwine was "under the influence." Absence of another witness, who was reported to have picked up a bottle at the scene of the wreck, also handicapped the prosecution. The bottle was in court, but there was no one to testify that it actually came from Bordwine's car.

Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel, who took Bordwine into custody, declared that in his opinion Bordwine was intoxicated.

A Fullerton physician who examined Bordwine at the county park about an hour after the wreck testified that Bordwine's equilibrium was badly at fault and there was an odor on his breath. But the physician was unable to tell what the odor was, beyond the fact, he alleged, that it was the same odor that came from the bottle, which the physician also inhaled. He would not testify, however, that the odor was alcoholic.

Another physician, who examined Bordwine at the county hospital still later, said that the prisoner's equilibrium had been restored by that time but the odor was still noticeable. The second physician believed he detected alcohol in the odor.

DRUMMER DOMINATES

"Spice of 1922" Entertaining But Cymbal-Man Is Show's Leading Attraction

"Spice of 1922," may be, as its publicity matter proclaims, "the revue that startled Broadway." Again, maybe not. Anyway, if the man who drummed for the show in New York was the same who presided over the tympani and cymbals in the pit at the Yost theater here last night, then "the Gay White Way" may conceivably have been somewhat surprised out of its lethargy, so to speak. That drummer is certainly an expert. He has an uncanny power over his instruments. At times he caresses them, vamps them, purrs over them. At others he leaps on them with primitive ferocity. Sometimes his drums gurgle. Again, they roar and yell. At all times he is master of the situation. He dominates the works. So cunningly does he perform that he becomes virtually an orchestra leader and chorus director rolled into one.

It seemed last night that the flappers in the chorus were in mortal fear of that drummer. They gave the impression that if they made as much as one infinitesimal false step the man at the drums would vault out of the pit, climb over the footlights and promptly proceed to choke the offending chorus girl to death. He was a super-drummer. The sounds from a compressed air hammer in the hands of a structural steel worker would be as the gentle crooning of a violin compared with the overwhelming crescendoes evoked by the drummer of "Spice of 1922."

In other words, if it wasn't the drumming that startled Broadway—provided Broadway was startled—then it certainly wasn't anything in any of the scenes exhibited here. True, two or three scenes that were down on the program, weren't up on the stage. The drummer may have decided that it were best to elide them. It may have been these omitted scenes, and not the drumming, that gave the lobster hounds of Broadway a thrill. The performance given here was all very mild, excepting the drumming. The most startling thing about it, next to the drumming, was the word "startling" used in the publicity matter.

There were many things in it that pleased the customers. El Brendel's Swedish antics were funny. Georgie Price was perhaps even better than Eddie Foy, Al Jolson and others whom he imitated. The scene, "Two Little Wooden Shoes," a Dutch number, all in white and delft blue, elicited as much praise as any.

But it was the drummer who dominated it all.

"TRILBY" OPENS AT YOST THEATER TONIGHT

Richard Walton Tully's screen production of "Trilby," which opens at the Yost theater tonight, was staged by a producer, director and cast thoroughly familiar with the locale of this famous story.

Tully, James Young, who directed the picture, and Wilfred Buckland, art director, all have spent several years in the Montmartre district of Paris. Conrad Tritschler, the famous English scenic artist, also has resided in Paris. Rose Dione, one of the members of the cast, formerly played at the head of her own company in France.

Andree Lafayette, the charming lead of this all-star cast, came to America direct from the French metropolis, as did also Maurice Cannon, who plays Zouzou, and Max Constant, the Dodor of the play.

"SNOWDRIFT" OPENS AT WEST END THEATER

The prowess of the Alaskan huskies or malamutes has been told by every writer of the Northwest, and lately they have achieved screen recognition. These famous sled dogs of the Yukon play dashing parts in Charles Jones' new picture, "Snowdrift," which opens tonight at the West End.

Practically every kind of a dog may be used to haul the sleds, but the rough life of the North has developed a strong strain that for endurance and speed cannot be found in other animals. The term malamute and husky was first applied to a dog that was a cross between a wolf and a domesticated dog. They are a hardy type and have certain characteristics peculiarly their own. They are naturally easy to control but at night the wolf strain makes them eager to wander off.

"DESERT DRIVEN" CLOSES ENGAGEMENT TONIGHT

Harry Carey does some splendid acting in his latest western thriller, "Desert Driven," which closes tonight at the Princess theater. As the long term convict who is wounded in his escape from the state penitentiary, Carey has great opportunity for the subtle, suppressed emotions that mark him as one of the foremost actors of the day. His transition into the role of the rancher who has his first love affair gives him further opportunities for showing his remarkable histrionic abilities.

OPERATIONS AT WALNUT PLANT ARE DELAYED

Although walnuts were reported coming in slowly, indications are that the packing house of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers association will open about the middle of next week, Secretary-Manager John Gowan said here today.

"At first," said Gowen, "we believed it would be necessary to open the packing plant today, but indications are that, due to the slowness of the drying and picking, we will postpone the opening until next week. It is probable the plant will open about September 26 or 27."

Gowen explained that the packing plant employes are ready to receive nuts at any time, but these must come in sufficiently large quantities to warrant handling of the consignments by platform workers. Small quantities of nuts received to date are said to be exceptionally fine.

The plant of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' association is ready to receive nuts.

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. TAKE FRONTAGE FOR SITE OF LUMBER CO.

COSTA MESA, Sept. 20.—A large wholesale lumber company, the name not yet made known, has leased 30 acres on the county channel of Newport bay and is making plans to establish a yard there in the near future. They believe the location to be an ideal distributing point for lumber.

There is also a movement on hand to locate a box factory in the same neighborhood.

The Long Beach Consolidated oil well is working night and day on the well in Newport Heights overlooking the bay. The showing is fine and a few hundred more feet will probably bring fine results. The Newport Oil and Refining company is drilling another well near the bridge and expect to put down as many as thirty wells, having proven that a very rich, heavy oil is plentiful at a depth of 600 to 700 feet.

The Fairview well No. 2 is at work again to deepen the well 500 feet, at which depth they are confident that a good producing well will be brought in.

Willard Mellott and family are moving into their new home just completed on their five-acre tract on the corner of Eighteenth and Santa Ana avenue. It is a five-room modern house with all the up-to-date conveniences.

Mr. Williamson and family have recently purchased the five-room home on Eighteenth street near the boulevard, which was built by N. O. Mellott.

The new five-acre subdivision on the corner of Seventeenth and Tustin avenue put on by N. O. Mellott is selling well. Mr. Mellott has already built three small houses on same and they are all sold. He intends to build on all the lots as fast as possible.

Dr. Bert C. Gatzlaf, chiropractor, has located his office in the new buildings on the boulevard just south of Seventeenth street.

William Ellison has just completed a new house on one of his acre tracts on Hamilton street, Fairview Farms.

Gus Viele, recently from the east, is building a nice, modern home on his two and one-half-acre tract on Thurin street, Fairview Farms. Mr. Viele has large interests in the east, but expects to live in Costa Mesa, where his father and brothers are already located.

The Southern Counties Gas company officials met Tuesday at the bank building with about 25 of the represenative property owners of Costa Mesa district with a view to getting together on a definite proposition for supplying gas to the mesa. J. C. Hayden made a proposition to put in a main line from Newport Beach as far north on the boulevard as Nineteenth street if the sum of $2,300 would be underwritten by the Costa Mesa people.

In order to get down to business an organization called the Costa Mesa Improvement association was organized with C. W. Te Winkle as president and H. C. Hookstra as secretary and treasurer, and a paper was drawn up and signed by all present agreeing to underwrite the sum needed. Other property owners will be asked to sign also so that the burden will not be heavy on any one person. J. C. Hayden promised to do his best to rush things along so that the schoolhouse could be supplied first.

The coming of gas will be a big boost to Costa Mesa and will greatly aid in rapid development of the harbor district.

H. K. Hinkle and William Rochester started Saturday on a deer hunting trip to the mountains.

E. A. Spalding has sold two lots on the boulevard just south of Nineteenth street to W. H. Hayes of Santa Ana. This sale cleans up the subdivision recently opened up by F. E. Russell, K. H. Hinkle and N. O. Mellott, with the exception of two lots facing on Nineteenth street.

W. C. Spencer has purchased through Williamson and Williamson, the two lots on the corner of Sixteenth and boulevard from Mr. Reid. Mr. Reid is a newcomer from the east and has made several purchases of real estate, always selling at a profit. In the meantime he is keeping very busy as a carpenter.

This assessment is based on the valuation of $1,228,715, the rate being $7.50 on the $100 valuation. This is the same rate as last year. The first installment will be due and payable the last Monday in December, 1923, while the second installment will be due the last Monday in June, 1924. Contracts have been let for drilling two wells at the main station. The board also approved the plans for the office building as drawn by Supt. I. H. Althouse, and ordered that bids be asked on the building.

Chamber Appoints Highway Committee

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 20.—The chamber of commerce has appointed a committee consisting of H. A. Lake, E. R. Stillens, and A. G. Yocke, to investigate the road situation with special attention to be paid to the road running east and west between Santa Ana and Long Beach.

The horticultural commission has asked the chamber to notify all residents to destroy all Russion thistles and other obnoxious weeds by October 1. If the weeds are not destroyed by that time the county will do the work and charge the expense to the property owner.

The Lions club will hereafter hold the regular weekly luncheons in the clubhouse of the Woman's Civic club. This decision was made after the Lions met in the new quarters Monday. A committee from the woman's club served luncheon.

H. A. Lake has received word from his son, Charles, a student of the University of California at Berkeley, that he had not suffered in the fire there this week.

Soil conditions were discussed by a number of local ranchers who met Wednesday on the Allen brothers ranch, three-quarters of a mile north of here. The demonstration, under the auspices of the extension service and the farm bureau, was well attended. Soil borings were taken and moisture interpretations made.

Edward Starkey and Clyde Hudson, two local youths, were hurt this week near Modjeska's home when the motorcycle on which they were riding got beyond control. Starkey, who was on the handlebars, was cut and bruised. Hudson was not so seriously hurt.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock will be held the regular meeting of the Woman's Civic club. The meeting will be in charge of the mothers section with Mrs. A. D. Hoenshel leading.

SEEKS BIG SUM FOR FEDERAL BUILDINGS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, chairman of the House committee on public buildings and grounds, aroused somewhat of a stir among administration advocates of economy here when he announced, following a conference with President Coolidge at the White House, that there would be introduced at the opening of congress an omnibus public-buildings bill carrying an appropriation of $100,000,000.

Whether the President favors such a bill was not disclosed, and even Mr. Langley himself was not certain that such a bill could be passed. He said, however, that he had reason to believe that some such bill would be passed at the forthcoming session, in view of the need for government buildings and the necessity for cutting down large governmental rental expenditures in many cities.

WINS REGULAR JOB AFTER FIVE YEARS

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 20.—Everything comes to him who waits, provided he waits long enough. That truth certainly holds good for Harvey McClellan, shortstop of the Chicago White Sox.

After five years of waiting, in which McClellan warmed the bench when not subbing at third, second, short or in the outfield, he has finally arrived.

McClellan, after five years of waiting, has finally won the berth of shortstop in the White Sox lineup.

It looks as if all McClellan needed was the assurance that he would play every day to bring out his best.

While not a hard hitter, McClellan is dangerous in a pinch. In the field he is all that could be desired and is constantly improving. Playing regularly alongside of the brilliant Eddie Collins, McClellan is getting better every day.

"He is going to prove a most valuable man for the Sox after being buffeted around for five years as a man without a job," is the compliment Collins pays McClellan.

OAKDALE, Sept. 20.—The Lodi Chamber of Commerce has requested the assistance of the Oakdale Chamber of Commerce to prevent the success of the movement for routing the travel from the East by way of Sacramento over the West Side cutoff, instead of through Lodi and Stockton. The local organization has referred the matter to the road committee for investigation.

Siskiyou Grange To Fight Water Grant

MONTAGUE, Sept. 20.—At a meeting of the Siskiyou County Pomona Grange resolutions were adopted opposing the decision of the division of water rights in tentative granting the Electro-Metals company permission to construct a 250-foot dam across the Klamath river and appropriate 300,000 inches of water, said to be five times the mean flow of the river. The resolutions were adopted following an address by James M. Allen of Yreka, who said that if the metals company is not checked in its purpose none of the waters of the Klamath or its tributaries could ever be used for development of agriculture or mining, virtually rendering valueless 250,000 acres of the best farming land in Northern California.

For it seemed that the reports th men were failing on the land ted them, and that this woul clude any wide use of the sch as a method of rehabilitation. ports of their success, howe showed in this manner, farm ducts might be standardized such an extent that the vetera would be protected that by pri fluctuation, group settlement woul afford a lower cost of production, and the medical attention was more nearly possible for the men, than if they were sent out under a placement method.

To do this, the bureau investigators declared would entail a careful selection of land on account of soil fertility, so that labor in production would not become too much of a hardship on the man assigned lands. Consideration of the men given the tracts, according to the veterans' bureau men, has much to do with the success, their contention being that physically handicapped men should be given small tracts for special farming work. The investigation included projects at Orchard Lake, Onamia, Veteransville, Silver Star and Moose Lake, all in Minnesota. Several of the colonies were made the object of special investigations by the American Legion in Minnesota and fevorable reports made on them.

A PUZZLE A DAY

1. PEACH
2. SCAPE
3. *****
4. *****
5. *****
6. APPLE

A peach and an apple are quite similar in size and shape. There is, however, considerable difference in the spelling of the two words. Take the word "peach" (1); and change the letter "h" to "s." The letters may now be formed into the word "scape" (2). In the same way change one of the letters in "scape" to form a third word, by changing a letter at each step. Then by changing one of the letters in the fifth word, form the sixth and last word "apple." Can you discover the three missing words?

Yesterday's answer:

There was 19 horses to begin with; one died, leaving 18, but as the sheik was to retain his favorite horse, the number to be divided was reduced to 17. The sheik, however, put his own horse in with the number to be divided, making a total of 18. Ane-half (9) went to the eldest son. One-third (6) to the second son; and one-ninth (2) to the youngest son. This made a total of 17 horses distributed. The sheik's favorite steed was the one left over, and the sheik took it back.

IT WILL BE A CLEAN FAIR

The management of the County Fair is to be congratulated upon the policy that it has adopted in relation to the concessions for the fair.

Games of chance, clairvoyancy, fortune telling and similar so-called attractions are to have no space in this fair. Dozens of applications for concessions of this sort have been turned down. It is estimated that had these applicants been given space the fair treasury would be $1,000 richer than it is today.

The management has found that there are plenty of first class attractions to be had for the general amusement lot, and the fair instead of suffering by not having these "foney" things will profit immeasurably, if in no other way than by placing the show entirely above reproach.

Too many attractions of the sort that will not be allowed on the premises clearly come within the ban of the law. This county is a county of law-abiding citizenry, and, as to the decision reached by the management, a general expression of approbation will be heard.

THE FIRE AT BERKELEY

It is with real sorrow and regret that the residents of California have read of the fire that destroyed hundreds of homes in Berkeley. By reason of the fact that hundreds of residents of this county have attended the state university or have relatives and friends now there, the news of the fire was of great concern here.

The fire serves as a lesson and a warning to every city in California.

Could a thing like that happen in our city?

The question is one that every city council should ask itself.

A few months ago Santa Ana voted bonds for the betterment of its fire protection conditions. The work for which money at that time was provided has not been done, though the city authorities are moving forward as rapidly as possible to carrying out the plans that were outlined as a basis for the bonds.

Santa Ana throughout its history has been fortunate in relation to fires. It has never had a "big fire." One reason for this satisfactory history is that the city has always had an efficient fire department. But Santa Ana has grown to a point where it must have not only ample equipment and plenty of firemen—it must have ample water to meet any emergency that may arise.

GROWTH OF ELECTRICITY

Recent statistics show that American homes are becoming electrically lighted at the rate of a million a year. In 1922, 1,000,000 new residential consumers were added to the 1921 total of seven and a half million.

The electrical industry in the last seven years has increased the number of customers on central station lines by more than 6,000,000. Today electrical energy is being transmitted as far as 400 miles to meet the demands for service.

There were at the end of 1922, 10,000,084 central station customers in this country, of whom 78 per cent were residential consumers of light and power, 17 per cent users of industrial lighting and 4 per cent industrial power consumers. The remaining 1 per cent is not accounted for. This total of more than ten million was divided numerically, as follows: 8,467,600 residential customers; 1,896,900 industrial lighting customers; 429,584 industrial power customers.

Statistics such as these are the strongest kind of argument to show that America, as was stated by Congressman Swing in Santa Ana this week, is becoming more and more dependent on electricity.

THE SKYSCRAPER MOVIE

What might be called a text-film is going to be made in Chicago in connection with the building of a new skyscraper. It will take more than three months to erect the building. Across the street from it, located in a park, is the motion picture cage where, every morning while work is going on, the camera man will take 20 or 30 feet of film showing the daily progress in the building's growth.

When the outside of the building is finally completed the picture, too, will be done. It is to be lent to engineering schools anywhere in the country for the purpose of illustrating building construction methods. Architects' and contractors' conventions are expected to use the picture in their discussion of the most modern methods of building. This particular picture will reproduce in half an hour the most important features of three months and more of labor.

Slow motion pictures teach us how a diver performs his feat; others show us how a plan grows and its blossoms unfold. Building a skyscraper in 30 minutes is another little trick which adds to the long tale of usefulness of this modern invention of service and entertainment.

SUPERSTITIONS FAIL

All rats left the ship Abner Coburn before she sailed from Seattle to the Alaskan fishing grounds. An old-time sailor would have said the ship was doomed. But the Abner Coburn made her trip north and returned to Seattle safely. That's the way with superstitions when we put them to the test.

However, superstition is based on precedent—on the law of averages—and it does no harm to keep one eye open. The idea about it being unlucky to walk under a ladder probably originated with a painter dropping his can of paint on a pedestrian. And the man who does not know it is "unlucky" to do something that you considered "unlucky" gets away with it day after day and lives happily.

HARD COAL MONOPOLISTS

The anthracite coal operators constitute a real monopoly, in fact if not in law. The anthracite coal miners constitute a labor monopoly. Each is inclined to be as high-handed as any other monopoly which ever held a grip on a standard commodity in this country.

Sometimes these two monopolies fight each other, and the public suffers from lack of coal. Sometimes they adopt the shrewder policy of working together, like business rivals, under an arrangement that insures the miners high wages and the operators high profits. Then the public suffers from exorbitant prices.

Usually the latter policy has worked better than the former, as far as the industry itself is concerned, because the public would rather pay high prices for hard coal than go without it altogether. That policy may be adopted now, with everyone clamoring for a settlement. It is a natural and obvious thing for the press and government to take anthracite capital and labor, bump their heads together and order them to come to agreement. But in the long run some more satisfactory solution will have to be found, insuring reasonable prices as well as continuous operation.

Pershing at Work

Fresno Republican.

General Pershing is 63 years of age.

And he is at work.

Still in the joy of duty, he goes to his desk early and keeps himself and others who are associated with him busy. He can be secretary of war, and chief of staff and General of the American army all at one time, and not feel it.

What must be the vision before a man whose duty is this.

He must see not war, but the avoidance of war. He must keep in his mind the dangers of human passion, as well as its potential fruits. He must keep fresh the subtle poisons of the tropics, as he knew them in the Philippines; the broad trail of loneliness, thinning the human mind, as when he led American punitives through Mexican sands on the trail of Villa; the horrible explosion of civilization, determined that it shall continue to eat and drink and enjoy life, as it swept destruction through the north of France.

He must see all these things in the light of grim determination of Americans that there shall be no more; to give the balance of doubt to peace, even though there may be danger of sacrifice of property and of honor and of human spirit, even of life for the sake of peace.

He must know that any such determination might be wiped out in a day and a night, by an international event. He must be ready with the means of war, even though a hundred million of his countrymen cry "Peace"! He is a man, and like all other men, he has either a hope or a fear of immortality. He does not wish his immortal vision clouded by a disaster to his own people that he might have averted, by preparing as best he might, the means of national self defense.

Is this not a great work, for a man nearly the limit of three score and ten and ready to be at ease if he would? It is Pershing's work.

A Proper Ruling

Sacramento Bee.

Secretary of the Navy Denby has ruled that the investigation into the causes of the recent naval disaster off Point Arguello shall be a public one.

The ruling hardly conforms to traditional naval policy, which is that naval matters are too sacred and recondite for public ear to hear or public intelligence to fathom. But it is an excellent ruling for all that. And a thoroughly American one.

After all, officers and men in the American navy are public servants, and the navy itself public property. In a case of this sort, where lives have been lost and millions of dollars worth of public property destroyed, the public has more than a mere right to know how it happened.

Such reckless and un-American abuses of authority as the recent attempt on the part of naval officers to withhold facts and punish newspapers which tried to ascertain and print them can not be tolerated.

This disaster was a very serious business. It was also mysterious. On the fact of it, one can not certainly say that any one was to blame. Nor can one say that no one was. That question must be cleared up by the investigation, and the men responsible for the wrecked destroyers either exonerated or punished. Until this has been done, one must reserve opinion on the question of their guilt or innocence.

But upon the question of publicity or secrecy for these hearings there can not be two opinions. There can only be that which has been expressed so forcibly by Secretary Denby.

Easy Trade With Mexico

San Francisco Chronicle.

Chairman of the Board Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific predicts a great increase of traffic between this Coast and Mexico when his company his spanned the hundred-mile gap in its track on the line linking this Coast to Mexico City. There will always be a large traffic by sea, but communications from seaports to the interior of Mexico are costly and not good. The completion of this railroad will connect us with rich districts of Mexico, which, it is believed, will develop rapidly under the settled conditions now prevailing and likely to continue.

Referring to general conditions in this country Chairman Kruttschnitt says that the Southern Pacific is now doing the largest business in its history, which means that the territories which it serves are producing more than ever before and buying more. And when a people is actively producing and exchanging that people is prospering.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

ARE YOUR LUNGS OUTSIDE YOUR BODY?

You will wonder what I'm driving at in above question, because your common sense tells you that your lungs are safely inside the chest behind that breastwork of ribs and muscle.

And yet, as one physiologist has put it, the lungs are really outside the body. Because if you could for a moment think of the lungs as a large paper bag which you have blown up, and then pushed down the throat into the chest cavity, what was the outside of the bag exposed to the air is now the lining of, or inside of the bag. Similarly the inside or lining of the lungs is thus really in contact with the outside air, or in other words is outside the body.

And why should they be outside?

Because the greatest need of your body is fresh air—oxygen.

So nature has placed the very, very thin-walled blood vessels all around the thin lining of the lungs, so that between the outside fresh air and the blood the walls are so thin that gases can pass right through them, just as two different gases will pass through an animal membrane in a jar.

What does this mean to you?

Well your blood has been all around the body gathering up waste matter and comes to the lungs to throw it out of the body. And on the other hand, fresh air has come into the lungs looking for a chance to give its life-giving oxygen to the blood. So you see the blood has a poisonous gas at high pressure, and the air has a beneficial gas at high pressure, and these two gases force themselves through the thin walls of the blood vessels with the result that the blood gets what it wants, and the air gets its cargo of waste matter to carry out of the body when you breathe out.

The point is that the air going in needs to be warm and moist. See that you close your mouth when outdoors, and let the air go through the nose.

It Maybe Impossible But--

Common Sense vs. Panic

San Diego Union

What is the world coming to, anyway? What queer and awful element, or combination of elements, is at work to bring about the series of disasters and tragedies, large and small, that is making the daily news of this time one vivid record of human misfortune—near at home and abroad? There are hundreds of people here who are asking these questions, in casual, daily conversation, and there are certainly some who seriously believe that some new thing has come upon the earth, changing life and life's probabilities.

There is a certain horror in the thought that some malignant force is at work now upon the coincidence of misfortunes that appears to afflict the Orient, the Balkans, the Klan-ridden state of Oklahoma, and the fire-swept forests and towns of the Pacific slope. This horror has its appeal to sensational minds, and it brings actual fright to the unintelligent who fear its close approach.

Because the disaster in Japan was so colossal, and because it originated in forces so profound and obscure that no man can speak with assurance of its causes, there is a general tendency to connect all these other disasters with that great one. To some people this may sound ridiculous, yet anyone who is acquainted with "what people are talking about" has first-hand knowledge of this tendency. Some folks even profess to believe that the eclipse of the sun had something to do with it—that because the sun's light was hidden from certain parts of the earth by the passing shadow of the moon, all the earth and the earth forces were thereby greatly disturbed, lending their powers to the destruction of human lives and human security!

Now, opinions of this sort may not be very intelligent. They may rest only upon forebodings and "hunches"—material upon which a wise man would hardly bet a couple of dollars on a race horse. Yet the fact remains that the spread of this sort of general opinion is often a powerful force in the world. It is the stuff of which panics are made.

So far, it is true, this panic material is not in shape to do much damage. Very few people pay serious attention to the vague opinions now casually circulating, and even the inevitable "predictions" of the professional fortune-tellers and clairvoyants—enterprising capitalizing a state of public opinion for the purposes of self-advertising—fail to give the general public any very sizeable "kick."

However, forewarned is forearmed. It is possible that if coincidence should bring one or two more serious calamities upon the world while the aftermath of the past still seems so ominous, a wide state of panic might arise. There are enough unintelligent people—and, unfortunately, enough cheap newspapers catering to such people—to cause such a thing to happen.

There have been instances where epidemics of disease or outbreaks of race rioting, or similar public disturbances, have been insanely magnified and so foolishly treated as to cause a whole great city to react in silly terror. Such a state of mind is not impossible in a great nation, in these days when rapid communication may be used to knit public opinion temporarily into the same pattern.

It is the part of common sense, then, to preserve an ordinarily intelligent attitude toward the history of the world's troubles. It is only common sense to insist that most of our troubles are man-made, and can therefore be remedied and in the future prevented by man. Even when great natural disasters are considered, remember that man is cutting down the list of natural scourges. The long fight that has conquered cholera and typhus may sometime protect us from earthquakes and tidal waves.

In the meanwhile, people who use fire carelessly and people who use their minds and their mouths carelessly are bringing about the most of our troubles. Getting superstitious or panic-stricken will only add to the disaster list.

Worth While Verse

THE EVENING CLOUD

A cloud lay cradled near the setting sun,
A gleam of crimson tinged its braided snow;
Long had I watched the glory moving on
O'er the still radiance of the lake below,
Tranquil its spirit seemed, and floated slow!
Even in its very motion there was rest;
While every breath of eve that chanced to blow
Wafted the traveler to the beauteous West.
Emblem, methought, of the departed soul!
To whose white robe the gleam of bliss is given.
And by the breath of mercy made to roll
Right onwards to the golden gates of heaven,
Where to the eye of faith it peaceful lies,
And tells to man his glorious destinies.

A. C. Tiede, secretary, and directors of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, will attend a meeting in Los Angeles next Saturday at which the walnut price for the year will be set.

Police were searching for Alfred Shettler, charged with having forged checks at three Santa Ana stores.

L. F. Clapp was nursing injuries sustained when he was thrown at the corner of Fifth street and Broadway from the rig which he was driving.

On motion of Trustee McNaught, the city council last night voted to appoint a committee to revise the city's building ordinances. An ordinance for paving West Fourth street, between Birch and Baker streets, was given first reading.

At least a dozen members of the First Methodist church were to go to San Diego to attend the thirty-fourth session of the Southern California conference. The Rev. C. T. Miller, pastor of the local church, was expected to request a change of location at the conference.

Miss Daisy Swerdfeger of Santa Ana was married yesterday to the Rev. F. W. Mitchell of Anaheim.

J. Wyley Harris went to Los Angeles to confer with architects now drawing plans for the new Abstract and Title Guaranty building here.

Marriage licenses: Henry J. T. Gerken, West Orange, and Clara M. A. Lehmann, Santa Ana; William D. Meservey, Los Angeles, and Jessie K. Lowe, Santa Ana.

The Orange County Carnival of Products committee decided to permit tallyhos to enter the October 2 parade.

For Riverside Site

Riverside Press

Riverside has had some mighty good friends in the other counties of Southern California in the long contest over the farm school. This was demonstrated again at the women's club meeting at Laguna a few days ago when the women representing the counties of San Diego, Orange, Imperial and San Diego joined with those from Riverside in demanding that whatever work in agricultural education the state university may undertake in Southern California should be developed on the 300 acres in Riverside owned by the state and acquired for that purpose. This friendly support is deeply appreciated. The movement for this institution had its inception with the parent teacher associations of San Bernardino county and the women of this section have stood loyally by Riverside.

It becomes more and more evident that the real purpose of the latest activity in this matter in Los Angeles is to secure a full-fledged university for that city instead of a "branch" doing partial work. And an effort is being made to use the farm bureaus as a means of helping Los Angeles capture this particular chestnut. The farming counties are not opposed to the movement for an enlargement of the scope of the university work in the south, though they recognize the financial difficulties in the way of duplicating the Berkeley institution in Southern California. What the farmers are more immediately interested in, however, is not academic but agricultural education; and the logic of the situation demands that this be developed in Riverside along side the citrus station which is already a great research institution not merely for the citrus industry, but for the fruit growing and farming problems of Southern California in general.

The San Bernardino Sun contributes the following interesting editorial to the discussion:

Eternal vigilance seems to be the price of a farm school, and we are not certain whether even that will out-reach the political influence and almost limitless resources of a great city. Our neighbors in Riverside awake to the fact that the Angelenos are taking a new tack in their campaign to make the state of California back up and reverse policy with reference to the establishing of a farm school at Riverside, originally ordered by the legislature of 1919.

An article in the farm section of the Los Angeles Times of a week ago has stirred new interest in the situation. It is written by the editor of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau monthly, W. S. Rosecrans, and it shouts for a big agricultural department of the southern branch of the University of California. Mr. Rosecrans is also a member of the regional board of the Farm Bureau, which has or is to have representation from this country.

The point to his article would at first seem to be a demand for the elevation of the present southern branch of the university into a full-fledged four-year university, with all departments represented, but the fact that the agricultural feature is so stressed, and that it is admitted that something had been done already—at least contemplated — at Riverside, indicates what perhaps is in mind, although the capturing of the farm school is distinctly disclaimed. Also, the fact is omitted that the state has already bought land there, and is committed to the establishing of such a school.

We take it that it is merely another move on the part of certain interests in the metropolis to gather in what got away from them five years ago, and that Riverside distinctly understands it so may be gathered from an editorial in the Press.

When the "outside" declares that it has reason to fear Los Angeles because of its selfishness, there is undoubted ground for the allegation. It may not always be the same interests that are trying to raid the neighboring counties for the benefit of the metropolis. One element in the city will want one institution or interest or industry, another will want something else, a third will covet still others, but the result is merely cumulative. Altogether, they want about everything in sight and even banded together in a common defense, the outside counties have difficulty in defending themselves.

We have had hopes that the farm school at Riverside might ultimately grow into a full-fledged agricultural college, but first of all, the fight must be made to retain the original farm school idea, approved by two legislatures, and for which a site has been purchased with state money.

Unappreciated Gold

By Berton Braley

The golden rod is blooming,
It's blooming far and wide,
Its fragrance is perfuming
The lovely countryside;
It's lining all the highways
With beauty much extolled,
It's banked along the byways
In masses made of gold.

The golden rod is glowing,
And it is fine to see,
And gentle winds are blowing
The scent of it to me;
But somehow, with each whiff, it
Brings me to tearful grief,
Achoo! Oh gosh, I sniff it!
Where is my ha'dkerchief?

The golden rod, codfou'd it!
Is very fair to view,
But when I ab abou'd it—
Achoo! Achoo! Achoo!
It sets me fretti'g, fubi'g,
And though you think it odd,
I wish is WAS'UD bloobi'g
The bloobi'g golded rod!

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

When two voices answered him. Cuffy couldn't understand it.

THE MOURNFUL MOOS

If Cuffy Bear hadn't been shut up in his cage he would have set out at once to find the cow that had just joined the circus. He had had only a fleeting glance of her as a man led her past the entrance of the menagerie tent. He was eager to talk with her. She made him think of home, and the cows in Farmer Green's pastures.

Cuffy Bear waited as patiently as he could. Now and then he heard, among the odd cries of the circus animals, a plaintive moo which he knew must come from the cow. In fact he sometimes thought he heard the call of more than one cow. There seemed to be two different cow voices.

"I believe," he finally said to Bramble the Bear, "there are two cows in the show."

But Bramble told him with a grin that he was mistaken.

"She's lonely, anyhow," Cuffy remarked. "One of those moos is more mournful than the other. Probably that's because she sometimes feels specially homesick."

Well, Cuffy's chance to talk to the cow came at last. One day he found himself tethered to a fence post at one end of the circus lot, where several of the led stock were enjoying a sun bath. And there was the cow! She was a red cow. She stood a little way off, broadside to Cuffy Bear, chewing her cud.

"Good morning, madam!" he cried. "Welcome to Signor Bruno's Mighty European Circus! I've been waiting for days to say that to you.'

"Good morning!" answered the red cow. And almost immediately another—and slightly different—cow voice said, "Why, how-dy do!"

Cuffy Bear couldn't understand it.

Tied to the fence at one end of the circus lot, the red cow stood as still as a statue. Except for chewing her cud and now and then flicking a fly with her tail, she never moved. Even when she answered Cuffy Bear's greeting she did not turn her head, but gazed at him out of one sad eye.

She was a handsome creature. There wasn't a white spot on her, so far as Cuffy could see. He wondered whether she looked just the same on the other side.

"How do you like traveling with the show?" he asked the red dame.

She swallowed her cud hastily before speaking.

"I find it very pleasant, thank you," she replied.

And then another voice, almost like hers but somehow slightly different, spoke up sharply: "I don't like it at all!"

That was very strange. There was no other cow to be seen anywhere.
